BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN

GRANT AT GALENA

Cordially Greeted by his Old Friends and Neighbors.

Civil and Military Parade During the Day and a Brilliant Illumination in the Evening

Grant Still Going

MENDOTA, Ill Nov 5—Gen Grant's special train spent the night near Lombardsville and the party sat up until after midnight receiving election returns. The journey was resumed this morning at Mendota. A reception was held in church where a brief speech was made. The inevitable handshaking followed and the party returned to the depot and entered a special train of the Illinois Central from Chicago in which were Senator Logan, Gov Cullom, Gov Smith of Wisconsin, and others. Gov Cullom introduced Grant to the crowd but he refused to make a speech and the train moved off amid loud cheers.

Arrival at Galena

GALENA, Nov 4—The train bearing the Grant party stopped at Dixon Polo and other points along the line reaching Galena at 4:30 P. M. The reception here at his old home was one to be remembered. The greatest good will and affection characterized the greeting. As the train came in numerous guns were fired and the vicinity of the station was literally packed with enthusiastic and delighted people. The militia of Galena and neighboring towns were in line at the depot and a band played "Auld Lang Syne". General Grant descended from the carriage with the mayor of Galena Gov Cullom Mrs Grant and the rest of the party followed. A procession formed in the following order: Mayor of Galena, Freeport and Dubuque militia, old settlers of Galena, the Dubuque Veteran corps, Gen Grant and party in carriages and distinguished citizens of Galena. Every building was lavishly decorated and arches were erected in several streets. The procession made a circuit of the town, the school children singing "America" in front of Grant's family church. Finally the procession stopped at a platform where a formal greeting was extended by State Senator McClellan, to which the general replied:

Ladies and Gentlemen, Citizens of Galena. It is with some embarrassment that I reply to your welcome. It is exceedingly gratifying to me but is difficult for me to reply to what I have just heard and to what I have seen. Since I first left Galena years ago, it has always been the greatest pleasure for me to return to Galena. Now after an absence of two and half years from your country, during which time I have visited almost every country in the world, it is a pleasure to be welcomed in this manner by you. During my travels I received princely honors, but they were all due to my country, and, to you as citizens and as members of a great country. When I saw during my absence, especially in the far east how the inhabitants had to toil even for a maintenance, I realized more than ever the greatness of our country, where want is scarcely ever known and where the question of sustenance is not daily pressed. I will only add that I thank you for your reception.

It was fully five minutes before the cheers which greeted Grant's speech had subsided. The crowds then called in turn for Cullom, Smith, Logan, Allison and Washburne. [illegible] made a speech eulogizing Grant. The general then held a reception at the [illegible].

There was a perfect jam at General Grant's reception this afternoon, which lasted until [illegible] o'clock this evening. The town presents a very brilliant and beautiful spectacle. The main streets and buildings are ablaze with illumination, and the houses surrounding hills with their bright [illegible] out of the darkness [illegible], and rockets and Roman candles are continually being sent up, adding greatly to the beauty of the scene. The church and fire bells are ringing and the streets are crowded with people all eagerly discussing the general's return and the great events of the day, the like of which Galena will scarcely ever see again. General Grant and his family dined privately at their residence which they had nicely fitted up for them. From early night until [illegible] there was a continuous stream of people on foot and in carriages, all anxious to pay their respects to General and Mrs Grant, who received them in a most hospitable manner.

Offered the Presidency of the Texas Pacific Railroad

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—The Sun's Washington special says ex-Gov Brown vice president of the Texas Pacific, is authority for a statement that an offer of the presidency of that road was made to Grant last Saturday and is now awaiting his disposal. The matter is [illegible] salary of $50 000. The Sun thinks it is a stock jobbing scheme.

GENERAL HOOKER'S FUNERAL

Service at Dr Adams' Church and an Imposing Procession—Many Distinguished Persons in Attendance—The Remains en route to Cincinnati for Burial

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

NEW YORK, Nov 5—Crowds of people looked upon the face of Gen Hooker whose remains were lying in state in the city hall today, and soon after noon the coffin was draped in an American flag, and placed in a hearse. A procession was then formed, the following gentlemen acting as pall bearers: Major General Hancock, Gen [illegible], Casey, Butterfield, Doubleday, [illegible], Sharpe, Crawford and Kidder, Admiral Rowan, Rear Admiral [illegible], John Jacob Astor, Dr T [illegible], Charles L Tiffany and [illegible]. The column was formed of troops of the 3d regiment of cavalry, [illegible] infantry, battery of light artillery, Gen. Shaler and staff mounted, many officers of the army and navy, veterans of the Mexican war and posts of the Grand Army of the Republic. The procession marched up Broadway to Waverly Place, thence to Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street to Rev. D. D. Adams' church on Madison avenue. During the movement of the procession minute guns were fired, flags on public buildings and shipping flags were placed at half mast. The streets through which the procession passed were crowded with people. The association of California Pioneers sent a floral offering with the legend "California Pioneers, we will meet over the divide." [illegible] dozen pioneers attended the church ceremony.

After the services in the church and an oration by Rev Dr. Adams the funeral procession reformed and the remains were taken by a special train for Cincinnati. United States troops formed the escort.

[illegible], Nov 5—Minute guns were fired and bells tolled during the funeral in New York of Gen Hooker.

WEST INDIES.

Plan to Free the Slaves of Cuba Without Affecting Her Industries

HAVANA, Nov. 5—The governor has received a dispatch from Madrid stating that a bill to settle the slavery question is being prepared and will soon be submitted to the Cortes. It will provide for the immediate abolition of slavery, but the freedmen will remain for a certain time under the patronage of their former masters, receiving wages after that. The freedmen will be under obligation to work under contract or follow some avocation under the protection of the government or another form at the expiration of which they will acquire civil and political rights. The government will secure the fulfillment of the obligations regarding work by the issue of a vagrant law. [illegible] to fulfill the law July 4 [illegible] for the preservation [illegible] of the freedmen to work.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS

CALIFORNIA

A Fool and his Folly

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov [illegible]—Joseph Lowman [illegible] of a fish market on Sixteenth and Mission street, went to the house of Mrs Hayes, whose niece Miss Carr he wished to marry, and on her refusal to consent to the marriage shot Mrs Hayes in the arm and Miss Carr in the shoulder. He then blew his own brains out. Neither of the women are very seriously injured.

A Fatal Stab

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov [illegible]—An affray in a sailor boarding house on Folsom street yesterday has just come to light. John Kinsey aged about 19, a nephew of the late deceased wife of Matthew Joyce, keeper of the house, attempted to remove from the building some property that he claimed as having been in possession of the deceased. Joyce resisted, when Kinsey drove a knife into his neck inflicting a probably fatal wound. Kinsey [illegible] and has not yet been arrested.

NEVADA.

A New Formation Struck in the Sierra Nevada Mine

VIRGINIA, Nov 5—The east drift in the 2200 level from Sierra Nevada east shaft has struck a new formation showing fine quartz and carrying water to such an extent that it has stopped work for the present, not daring to proceed. The quartz looks well and gives fair assays. I cannot tell yet what it will amount to, whether a foot wide stringer or a big vein.

Miner Killed

At 10 A. M. James Proutt, a native of Cornwall England, aged 40 and for 12 years pumpman at Chollar, was struck by a falling plank near the 2200 foot level of the Chollar Norcross and Savage shaft and knocked [illegible] down 1?5 feet. He was instantly killed.

ARIZONA

Suicides.

PHŒNIX, Nov [illegible]—V T Giesler suicided here Monday night by shooting himself. The body was found yesterday morning north of town against a fence in a sitting posture. Deceased was well known in Visalia and was lately in business in Alameda, where he leaves a family. Reverses of the last two years the cause.

A Herald Tucson special says that Edward Jennings, a native of Brooklyn N Y, suicided at that city Monday. He took a Winchester rifle, took off his boots and socks, tied a string to the trigger and [illegible] one toe, rested the muzzle against his cheek and fired.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY

Port Townsend Items

PORT TOWNSEND, Nov 5—The pilot schooner Lottie, Colonel Haller owner, was sold to-day to Henry Landes.

The coal saved from the ship Washington Libby was caught by Capt Starr for his sound steamers.

The custom house flags are at half mast to-day in memory of Senator Chandler.

Fire at New Tacoma.

NEW TACOMA, Nov 5—The fire originating in Cogswell's livery stable on Pacific avenue at an early hour this morning totally destroyed the livery stable, Gem saloon, Halstead hotel, Devin's barber shop and also his residence.

Burglars Captured

SALEM, Nov 5—The two burglars who escaped from Independence were captured this afternoon by officers Lawrence and Parker back of New [illegible] and brought to Salem to-night. They will be taken to Independence to-morrow.

NOVEMBER MAGAZINES

The Atlantic for November has, besides the [illegible] on "Our Military Past and Future" already quoted in THE OREGONIAN, "Sister [illegible]'s Story" by Jane [illegible]; "[illegible] Art in America" by [illegible]; "The Prospect of a Moral Interregnum" by Goldwin Smith; "The Walden[illegible] of To-day" by George Waring Jr; "Assorted Americanisms" by Richard Grant White, and the usual number of book reviews.

The North American Review for November has an answer to Francis Parkman's article on "The Woman Question" by Julia Ward Howe, Thomas Wentworth Higginson, [illegible] Stone, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Wendell Phillips. The other articles in this number are "Malthusianism, Darwinism, and Pessimism" by Prof Francis Bowen; "A Page of Political Correspondence—Stanton to Buchanan"; "The Diary of a Public Man" (Part IV); "Tariff [illegible]" by Prof Arthur L Perry; "Some Recent Works of Fiction" by [illegible]. New York: D Appleton & Co, [illegible] number.

The November Scribner opens with two frontispiece portraits of Bayard Taylor, one engraved by Cole from the large photograph by [illegible], the other by [illegible] from a [illegible] of the bust [illegible] to Cornell University. An interesting feature of this number is the first installment of "The Grandissimes," Mr Cable's new story (a [illegible] of Creole Life). A paper on "The [illegible] Jetties" by Mr E L Corthell, the superintending engineer at Port Eads. A paper on "The Agricultural Distress in Great Britain" is contributed by Mr [illegible] of the New Jersey State Agricultural [illegible]. A strong contrast is presented by Mr Henry King's "Picturesque Features of Kansas." [illegible] Illustrated papers of [illegible] interest somewhat allied to these are "Rare Lawn Trees" by Samuel Parsons jr of Flushing, L I, and on "Success with Small Fruits" by the Rev E P Roe of Cornwall, N Y. Nine other papers give variety to the number, viz: An account by Clarence Cook of Mr Morris Moore and his Old Masters with three engravings, including one by Cole of the celebrated "Apollo and Marsyas" of Raphael, discovered and owned by Moore, a painting which it is hoped may be purchased for America; the first part of Mr E C Stedman's critique of Bayard Taylor's poetry and literary career, involving the consideration of other American literature before the war; a curious study of "How Animals Get Home" by Mr Ernest Ingersoll, whose conclusion [illegible] special homing instinct; a picturesque illustrated article by Mr W H Rideing on "The French Quarter of New York"; Extracts from the Journal of Henry J Raymond, edited by his son Mr H W Raymond and principally devoted to reminiscences of Webster and the campaign of 1848, including Webster's opinion of Clay; a paper on the habits and game qualities of "The Michigan Grayling" by the late Thaddeus Norris; the fourth installment of Mr Henry James' "Confidence," in which the scene changes to America; and two clever pieces of romance—one a story of Americans in Europe by Mrs Elizabeth A Read entitled "A Sigh," and the other of the Schleswig-Holstein war by Mr H H Boyesen entitled "Ilka on the Hilltop," and including a Swedish yodeling song.

THE ELECTIONS.

NEW YORK

A Rebuke to Conklingism—The Democratic State Ticket Below Governor Probably Elected

NEW YORK, Nov [illegible]—The [illegible] Advertiser (republican) apprehends that the republican state ticket below governor [illegible] be defeated in part if not altogether.

The Evening Post says: "What Senator Conkling [illegible] has received an [illegible]."

The Commercial also republican, read Senator Conkling a lecture advising [illegible] his [illegible] and methods.

The Republican Majority in the Legislature

NEW YORK, Nov [illegible]—Returns now at hand indicate that of [illegible] senators chosen yesterday the republicans elected [illegible]. In other words the republicans have to start with a majority of 1? votes in the choice of United States senator by the next legislature.

Indications that the Republicans have Carried their Entire State Ticket.

NEW YORK, Nov 5—2 P M—It is thought that the state ticket is still in doubt. Indications at this hour are that the republicans have carried all of their state ticket except Soule for engineer.

The Republican Ticket, Cornell Excepted, Probably Defeated

BROOKLYN, Nov 5—Robinson, 44 414, Cornell 31 509. Latest returns this afternoon do not change the earlier announcement that Cornell is elected and the rest of the republican state ticket defeated. Robinson has a plurality of [illegible] 000 in this city and Kings county, while Potter in the same has a majority of 3? 41? over Hoskins. It is not at all probable that the republicans outside of New York and Kings counties can overcome the democratic majority for that part of the ticket in regard to which there was no split.

Oneida County.

UTICA, Nov 5—James Stevens, democrat, is elected senator from Oneida district by 100 majority. Three republican assemblymen elected in Oneida county.

Comments of the N. Y. City Press on the Result in that State

NEW YORK, Nov 5—The World mourns the defeat of Robinson but thinks the end of Tammany hall has come. Kelly has succeeded in defeating Robinson with the aid of better men and annihilated himself. As for Tilden he lashed his own political corpse as closely as he could to the living candidate of the democracy of New York and in the state has lost. The democracy has thereby been delivered of an incumbrance.

The Tribune says: "It is a victory through out. The future belongs to the republicans. The New York election disposes of the Tilden effort to kill John Kelly. He is a bigger power to-day in the democratic party of New York than on any previous day of his political life. Defeat has put an end to Tilden. He has made such a fight as no other democrat in the state could have made. Under all disadvantages of the situation Tilden has kept up the courage of the party, holding them well together."

The Herald says: "Tilden goes to the wall. But for his interference the democrats could have chosen their whole ticket, governor and all. He will no more be heard of in national nor we should think in state politics. We are now certain how far Conkling is to be congratulated. The election of all the state ticket but governor gives the moral victory with Conkling's opponents. Take it all together New York will remain what it has been, an uncertain state; but the election at least shows that the nomination of Tilden next year would make it certain republican state while a [illegible] good [illegible] democratic candidate might carry it."

The Sun says: "The defeat of Robinson is the work of Kelly. It appears that there are many democrats in this city who prefer defeat to success. This is a free country."

PENNSYLVANIA

The Result in Lackawanna County

PHILADELPHIA, Nov [illegible]—Lackawanna county gives 200 plurality and Snyder county [illegible] majority for the republican [illegible].

MASSACHUSETTS

Former Reports Confirmed

BOSTON, Nov 5—Returns from all but [illegible] towns give the following vote: Long 1? 716, Butler 108 07?, Adams 97?, [illegible] 14 3.

ILLINOIS

Complete Vote for Treasurer—Republican Gains throughout the State

CHICAGO, Nov [illegible]—Complete figures for treasurer in Chicago give Johnson (Rep) 644?, Gtenn (Dem) 18 38, Altpeter (Com) 3?12. This plurality [illegible] In the [illegible] 35? Glenn 1 ?8 Altpeter 4?39 [illegible] plurality [illegible] Returns from local elections throughout the state show an [illegible] little [illegible] except where a straight party [illegible] joined, there were republican gains.

MINNESOTA

Returns Coming in Slowly—A Charge of Unfair Dealing

ST PAUL, Nov [illegible]—Returns from [illegible] towns [illegible] to [illegible] slowly [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] complete [illegible] democratic whites [illegible] republican for [illegible] more [illegible] the ticket [illegible] bargain between Gilman and [illegible] by which the latter was to receive the democratic votes and the former [illegible] voted for by Gilman's friends. There is also scratching in the office of treasurer and secretary of state on account of the feeling among Germans and Scandinavians. The republican majority probably appears best in the [illegible] for attorney general. [illegible] likely to fall below rather than exceed ten thousand.

VIRGINIA

The State Claimed by Both Parties.

RICHMOND, Nov 5—The debt payers organ figures up the result of the election for the legislature as follows: House of delegates—the conservative debt payers have elected 42, republican debt payers have elected [illegible], readjusters have elected 1?, doubtful 10. Senate—the conservative debt payers have elected 17, the republican debt payers [illegible], readjusters 10, doubtful 10.

The paper asserts that notwithstanding its disappointment in these figures the returns make it absolutely certain that the debt payers will have a small majority in both houses.

The Whig, leading organ of the readjusters, on the contrary, claims that [illegible] returns received the debt payers have met with a Waterloo, and that unless there is a [illegible] in the tenor of the news [illegible] the readjusters will be sure to have handsome majorities in both branches of the general assembly. [illegible] will probably be a day or two before the [illegible] is definitely settled.

The Result Still Uncertain

DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO BREAK JAIL.

The Perkins Murderers, Confined in the Yakima Jail, Assault the Jailer and Attempt to Escape—A Terrible Struggle—The Jailer and the Prisoners Hors du Combat.

YAKIMA CITY, Nov 2 1879

About 7 o'clock yesterday morning our town was thrown into the greatest state of excitement by the announcement that the Perkins murderers who are now under the sentence of death were attempting to escape.

GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

GRANT AT GALENA.

Cordially Greeted by his Old Friends and Neighbors.

Civil and Military Parade During the Day and a Brilliant Illumination in the Evening.

Grant Still Going.

Mendota, Ill., Nov. 5.—Gen. Grant's special [illegible] the night near Lombardsville and [illegible] up until after midnight, receiving election returns. The journey was resumed this morning at Mendota. A reception was held in church, where a brief speech was made. The inevitable handshaking followed and the party returned to the depot and entered a special train of the Illinois [illegible] from Chicago, in which were Senator [illegible], Gov. Cullom, Gov. Smith of Wisconsin, and others. Gov. Cullom introduced [illegible] to the crowd, but he refused to make a [illegible] and the train moved off amid loud [illegible].

Arrival at Galena.

Galena, Nov. 5.—The train bearing the party stopped at Dixon, Polo and [illegible] along the line, reaching Galena at [illegible] P. M. The reception here at his old home was one to be remembered. The grandeur and affection characterized the [illegible]. As the train came in, numerous [illegible] fired and the vicinity of the station was densely packed with enthusiastic people. The militia of Galena and neighboring towns were in line at the [illegible], a band played "Auld Lang Syne." [illegible] descended from the carriage [illegible] of Galena, Gov. Cullom, Mrs. [illegible] the rest of the party followed. A [illegible] formed in the following order: [illegible] Galena, Freeport and Dubuque [illegible] soldiers of Galena, the Dubuque [illegible], Gen. Grant and party in carriages, distinguished citizens of Galena. [illegible] was lavishly decorated and arches were erected in several [illegible]. The procession made a circuit of the [illegible] school children singing "America" [illegible] Grant's family church. Finally [illegible] stopped at a platform where a [illegible] was extended by State Senator [illegible], to which the general replied:

Gentlemen, Citizens of Galena: It is [illegible] embarrassment that I reply to your [illegible] exceedingly gratifying to me; but [illegible] for me to reply to what I have just [illegible] what I have seen. Since I first left [illegible] years ago, it has always been the [illegible] for me to return to Galena. Now, [illegible] of two and half years from your [illegible] I have visited almost [illegible] the world, it is a pleasure to be [illegible] by you. During my travels [illegible] kindly housed, but they were all due [illegible] to you, as citizens and as [illegible] great country. When I saw our [illegible] especially in the far east, how [illegible] have had to toil even for a maintenance [illegible] more than ever the greatness of [illegible] want is scarcely ever known [illegible] question of sustenance is not daily [illegible]. I will only add that I thank you [illegible].

[illegible] minutes before the cheers [illegible] Grant's speech had subsided. [illegible] then called in turn for Cullom, [illegible] Logan, Allison and Washburne, [illegible] made a speech eulogizing Grant. [illegible] then held a reception at the [illegible].

[illegible] perfect jam at General Grant's [illegible] afternoon, which lasted until [illegible] o'clock this evening. The town [illegible] brilliant and beautiful spectacle. [illegible] main streets and buildings are [illegible] illumination and the houses [illegible] surrounding hills with their bright [illegible] out of the darkness [illegible] and rockets and Roman candles are continually being sent up [illegible] greatly to the beauty of the [illegible]. The church and fire bells are [illegible] the streets are crowded with [illegible] eagerly discussing the general's [illegible] the great events of the day, the [illegible] Galena will scarcely ever see [illegible] Grant and his family dined [illegible] at their residence, which they [illegible] nicely fitted up for them. From [illegible] until [illegible] there was a continuous [illegible] of people on foot and in carriages [illegible] paying their respects to [illegible] Grant, who received them [illegible] suitable manner.

Offered the Presidency of the Texas Pacific Railroad.

[illegible], Nov. 5.—The Sun's Washington [illegible] ex-Gov. Brown, vice president of the Texas Pacific, is authority for a [illegible] an offer of the presidency of [illegible] was sent Grant last Saturday, and is [illegible] his disposal. The managers [illegible] salary of $30,000. The Sun thinks [illegible] scheme.

GENERAL HOOKER'S FUNERAL.

Services at Dr. Adams' Church and an Imposing Procession—Many Distinguished Persons in Attendance—The Remains en route to Cincinnati for Burial.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

New York, Nov. 5.—Crowds of people viewed the face of Gen. Hooker, whose remains were lying in state in the city hall [illegible] soon after noon the coffin was [illegible] in an American flag, and [illegible] hearse. A procession was then [illegible], the following gentlemen acting as [illegible]: Major General Hancock, Generals [illegible] Lesley, Butterfield, Doubleday, [illegible] Sharpe, Crawford and Kidder, [illegible] Bowen, Rear Admiral [illegible], John Jacob Astor, Dr. T. [illegible], Charles L. Tiffany and [illegible] Daniels. The column was formed [illegible] of the 3d regiment of cavalry; [illegible] battery of light artillery, Gen. Shaler and staff, mounted; [illegible] the army and navy, veterans [illegible] war and posts of the Grand [illegible] of the Republic. The procession [illegible] Broadway to Waverly Place, [illegible] Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street [illegible] Dr. D. Adams' church on Madison [illegible]. During the movement of the procession [illegible] guns were fired, flags on public [illegible] and shipping flags were placed [illegible]. The streets through which the [illegible] passed were crowded with people. [illegible] of California Pioneers sent a [illegible] with the legend "California [illegible] we will meet over the divide." [illegible] pioneers attended the church [illegible].

[illegible] the services in the church and an [illegible] by Rev. Dr. Adams, the funeral procession reformed and the remains were taken [illegible] train for Cincinnati. United [illegible] troops formed the escort.

[illegible], Nov. 5.—Minute guns were [illegible] and bells tolled during the funeral in New York of Gen. Hooker.

WEST INDIES.

[illegible] Free the Slaves of Cuba Without Affecting Her Industries.

Havana, Nov. 5.—The governor has received a dispatch from Madrid stating that a bill to settle the slavery question is being prepared and will soon be submitted to the cortes. It will provide for the immediate abolition of slavery, but the freedmen will remain for a [illegible] time under the patronage of their [illegible] masters, receiving wages after this. The freedmen will be under obligation to [illegible] under contract or follow some avocation under the protection of the government [illegible] further term, at the expiration of which they will acquire civil and political rights. The government will secure the fulfillment of obligations regarding work by the passage of a vagrant law. This bill is considered to fulfill the law of July 4, 1870, taking [illegible] for the preservation of order and obliging the freedmen to work.

MEXICO.

Mexican Affairs.

City of Mexico, Oct. 21.—President Diaz [illegible] declared that he will not favor any particular candidate.

The [illegible] rebellionists in Durango have been defeated and dispersed. Minister Foster was [illegible] Guadalajara on the 15th and left on the [illegible] for Colima.

General Grant is expected to visit Mexico [illegible] winter.

Advices have been received to the effect [illegible] the French government will soon renew [illegible] with Mexico.

[illegible], minister of the interior, and Gonzales, minister of war, will retire from the cabinet, successors not named. This is a movement to break up presidential intrigues in the cabinet.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

A Fool and his Folly.

San Francisco, Nov. 5.—Joseph Bowman, proprietor of a fish market on Sixteenth and Mission street, went to the house of Mrs. Hayes, whose niece, Miss Carr, he wished to marry, and on her refusal to consent to marriage, shot Mrs. Hayes in the arm and Miss Carr in the shoulder. He then blew his own brains out. Neither of the women are very seriously injured.

A Fatal Stab.

San Francisco, Nov. 5.—An affray in a sailor's boarding house on Folsom street, yesterday, has just come to light. John Kinsey, aged about 19, a nephew of the late deceased wife of Mathew Joyce, keeper of the house, attempted to remove from the building some property that he claimed as having been in possession of the deceased. Joyce resisted, when Kinsey drove a knife into his neck, inflicting a probably fatal wound. Kinsey ran off and has not yet been arrested.

NEVADA.

A New Formation Struck in the Sierra Nevada Mine.

Virginia, Nov. 5.—The east drift in the 2200 level from Sierra Nevada, east shaft, has struck a new formation, showing fine quartz and carrying water to such an extent that it has stopped work for the present, not daring to proceed. The quartz looks well and gives fair assays. I cannot tell yet what it will amount to, whether a foot wide stringer or a big vein.

Miner Killed.

At 10 A. M. James Prouth, a native of Cornwall, England, aged 40, and for 12 years pumpman at Chollar, was struck by a falling plank near the 2200 foot level of the Chollar, Norcross and Savage shaft, and knocked him down 175 feet. He was instantly killed.

ARIZONA.

Suicides.

Phœnix, Nov. 5.—V. T. Giesler suicided here Monday night, by shooting himself. The body was found yesterday morning north of town against a fence in a sitting posture. Deceased was well known in Visalia and was lately in business in Alameda, where he leaves a family. Reverses of the last two years the cause.

A Herald Tucson special says that Edward Jennings, a native of Brooklyn, N. Y., suicided at that city Monday. He took a Winchester rifle, took off his boots and socks, tied a string to the trigger and one toe, rested the muzzle against his cheek and fired.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Port Townsend Items.

Port Townsend, Nov. 5.—The pilot schooner Lottie, Colonel Haller owner, was sold to-day to Henry Landes.

The coal saved from the ship Washington Libby was caught by Capt. Starr for his sound steamers.

The custom house flags are at half-mast to-day, in memory of Senator Chandler.

Fire at New Tacoma.

New Tacoma, Nov. 5.—The fire originating in Coggwell's livery stable on Pacific avenue at an early hour this morning, totally destroyed the livery stable, Gem saloon, Halstead hotel, Davin's barber shop and also his residence.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH.

Burglars Captured.

Salem, Nov. 5.—The two burglars who escaped from Independence were captured this afternoon by officers Lawrence and Parker, back of New Era, and brought to Salem to-night. They will be taken to Independence to-morrow.

NOVEMBER MAGAZINES.

The Atlantic for November has, besides the article on "Our Military Past and Future," already quoted in THE OREGONIAN, "Sister Mary's Story," by Jane Silsbee; "The Ceramic Art in America," by Jennie J. Young; "The Prospect of a Moral Interregnum," by Goldwin Smith; "The Waldenses of To-day," by George Waring, jr.; "Assorted Americanisms," by Richard Grant White; and a great number of book reviews.

The North American Review for November has an answer to Francis Parkman's article on "The Woman Question," by Julia Ward Howe, Thomas Wentworth Higginson, Lucy Stone, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and Wendell Phillips. The other articles in this number are "Malthusianism, Darwinism, and Pessimism," by Prof. Francis Bowen; "A Page of Political Correspondence: Stanton to Buchanan"; "The Diary of a Public Man" (Part IV); "Tariff Reactions," by Prof. Arthur L. Perry; "Some Recent Works of Fiction," by Edward Eggleston. New York: D. Appleton & Co. $5 per annum; 50 cents a number.

The November Scribner opens with two frontispiece portraits of Bayard Taylor, one engraved by Cole from the large photograph by Gutekunst, the other by Juengling from a replica of the bronze bas-relief by the sculptor O'Donovan, which was executed for Cornell University. An interesting feature of this number is the first installment of "The Grandissimes," Mr. Cable's new story (and first novel) of Creole Life. A paper on the "Mississippi Jetties," by Mr. E. L. Corthell, the resident engineer at Port Eads. A paper on "The Agricultural Distress in Great Britain" is contributed by Mr. P. T. Quinn, of the New Jersey State Agricultural Association. A strong contrast is presented by Mr. Henry King's "Picturesque Features of Kansas Farming." Illustrated papers of an interest somewhat allied to these are "Rare Lawn Trees," by Samuel Parsons, jr, of Flushing, L. I., and on "Success with Small Fruits," by the Rev. E. P. Roe, of Cornwall, N. Y. Nine other papers give variety to the number, viz.: An account by Clarence Cook of "Mr. Morris Moore and his Old Masters," with three engravings, including one by Cole of the celebrated "Apollo and Marsyas" of Raphael, discovered and owned by Moore, a painting which it is hoped may be purchased for America; the first part of Mr. E. C. Stedman's critique of Bayard Taylor's poetry and literary career, involving the consideration of other American literature before the war; a curious study of "How Animals Get Home," by Mr. Ernest Ingersoll, whose conclusion is against any special "homing instinct"; a picturesque illustrated article by Mr W. H. Rideing on "The French Quarter of New York"; "Extracts from the Journal of Henry J. Raymond," edited by his son, Mr. H. W. Raymond, and principally devoted to reminiscences of Webster and the campaign of 1848, including Webster's opinion of Clay; a paper on the habits and game qualities of "The Michigan Grayling," by the late Thaddeus Norris; the fourth installment of Mr. Henry James' "Confidence," in which the scene changes to America, and two clever pieces of romance—one a story of Americans in Europe by Mrs. Elizabeth A. Read, entitled "A Sigh"; and the other of the Schleswig-Holstein war, by Mr. H. H. Boyesen, entitled "Ilsa on the Hilltop," and introducing a Swiss yodeling song.

THE WALKER-TEAL CASE.

The San Francisco Bulletin in a long article reviews the Walker-Teal case, as decided by our supreme court, and pronounces it "an unfortunate decision for Oregon." After presenting a statement of the case and a summary of the decision, it says:

> This decision has created a feeling of consternation and distrust in the minds of foreign capitalists having money out upon mortgages in this state and Oregon. The European lender is not apt to discriminate very nicely as to whether the judgment against him, which appears so unreasonable and ruinously unjust, was rendered by the highest court of Oregon or California. Generally the man, as in this case, is negotiated through some San Francisco firm having connections abroad, and the loss is charged to the California account. Altogether we can but regard the decision as unfounded both in law and good morals; as likely to greatly weaken the respect which ought to prevail for the decisions of the highest court of a sovereign state, and as calculated to produce mischievous effects far beyond the amount involved in the case under consideration. In the legal aspect of the case we are fortified by the opinions of distinguished lawyers of the Oregon, California and English bar.

The California papers state that four years ago Senator Sharon was $11,000,000 in debt. This accounts for a little draft on us from him for $247,089 31 going to protest about that time.

THE ELECTIONS.

NEW YORK.

A Rebuke to Conklingism—The Democratic State Ticket Below Governor Probably Elected.

New York, Nov. 5.—The Commercial Advertiser, republican, apprehends that the republican state ticket below governor is defeated in part if not altogether.

The Evening Post says: What is called Conklingism has received an emphatic rebuke.

The Commercial, also republican, reads Senator Conkling a lecture advising reforms in manners and methods.

The Republican Majority in the Legislature.

New York, Nov. 5.—Returns now at hand indicate that of 32 senators chosen yesterday, the republicans elected 24. In other words the republicans have to start with a majority of 16 votes in the choice of United States senator by the next legislature.

Indications that the Republicans have Carried their Entire State Ticket.

New York, Nov. 5—2 P. M.—It is thought that the state ticket is still in doubt. Indications at this hour are that the republicans have carried all of their state ticket except Soule for engineer.

The Republican Ticket, Cornell Excepted, Probably Defeated.

Brooklyn, Nov. 5.—Robinson, 44,414; Cornell, 31,509. Latest returns this afternoon do not change the earlier announcement that Cornell is elected and the rest of the republican state ticket defeated. Robinson has a plurality of 24,660 in this city and Kings county, while Potter in the same has a majority of 51,445 over Hoskins. It is not at all probable that the republicans outside of New York and Kings counties can overcome the democratic majority for that part of the ticket in regard to which there was no split.

Oneida County.

Utica, Nov. 5.—James Stevens, dem., is elected senator from Oneida district by 100 majority. Three republican assemblymen elected in Oneida county.

Comments of the N. Y. City Press on the Result in that State.

New York, Nov. 5.—The World mourns the defeat of Robinson, but thinks the end of Tammany hall has come. Kelly has succeeded in defeating Robinson with the aid of better men and annihilated himself. As for Tilden, he lashed his own political corpse as closely as he could to the living candidate of the democracy of New York, and in the state has lost. The democracy has thereby been delivered of an incumbrance.

The Tribune says: "It is a victory throughout. The future belongs to the republicans. The New York election disposes of the Tilden effort to kill John Kelly. He is a bigger power to-day in the democratic party of New York than on any previous day of his political life. Defeat has put an end to Tilden. He has made such a fight as no other democrat in the state could have made. Under all disadvantages of the situation Tilden has kept up the courage of the party, holding them well together."

The Herald says: "Tilden goes to the wall. But for his interference the democrats could have chosen their whole ticket, governor and all. He will no more be heard of in national, nor, we should think, in state politics. We are now certain how far Conkling is to be congratulated. The election of all the state ticket but governor, leaves the moral victory with Conkling's opponents. Take it all together, New York will remain what it has been, an uncertain state, but the election at least shows that the nomination of Tilden next year, would make it a republican state, while a really good and popular democratic candidate might carry it."

The Sun says: "The defeat of Robinson is the work of Kelly. It appears that there are many democrats in this city who prefer defeat to success. This is a free country."

PENNSYLVANIA.

The Result in Lackawanna County.

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—Lackawanna county gives 2000 plurality, and Snyder county (official), 575 majority for the republicans.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Former Reports Confirmed.

Boston, Nov. 5.—Returns from all but eight towns give the following vote: Long, 121,716; Butler, 108,507; Adams, 9734; Eddy, 1473.

ILLINOIS.

Complete Vote for Treasurer—Republican Gains throughout the State.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Complete figures for treasurer in Chicago give Johnson (Rep.), 22,644; Guerin (Dem.), 18,937; Altpeter (socialist), 3912. Johnson's plurality is 3607. In the county the vote stood: Johnson, 21,316; Guerin, 21,278; Altpeter, 4059. Johnson's plurality, 8,08; majority, 4069. Returns from local elections throughout the state have, as a rule, little practical significance, but where a straight party issue was joined there were republican gains.

MINNESOTA.

Returns Coming in Slowly—A Charge of Lately Trading.

St. Paul, Nov. 5.—Returns from counties and larger towns are coming in to-night but slowly, on account of the great amount of scratching. Very few complete returns have been received. Pillsbury, republican for governor, has been scratched in favor of Rice, democrat, while Gilman, republican for lieutenant governor, heads the ticket. Pillsbury's friends allege that this is the confirmation of a charge made before election of a bargain between Gilman and Rice, by which the latter was to receive the democratic votes and the former to be voted for by Gilman's friends. There is also scratching in the offices of treasurer and secretary of state on account of the feeling among Germans and Scandinavians. The republican majority probably appears best in the vote for attorney general. This is now likely to fall below rather than exceed ten thousand.

VIRGINIA.

The State Claimed by Both Parties.

Richmond, Nov. 5.—The debt payers' organ foots up the result of the election for the legislature as follows: House of delegates—the conservative debt payers have elected 42; republican debt payers have elected 3; readjusters have elected 19; doubtful, 10. Senate, the conservative debt payers have elected 17; the republican debt payers, 3; readjusters, 10; doubtful, 10.

The paper asserts that notwithstanding its disappointment in these figures, the returns make it absolutely certain that the debt payers will have a small majority in both houses.

The Whig, leading organ of the readjusters, on the contrary, claims that from returns received the debt payers have met with a Waterloo, and that unless there is a change in the tenor of the news to come, the readjusters will be sure to have handsome majorities in both branches of the general assembly. It will probably be a day or two before the positive result can be settled.

The Result Still Uncertain.

Petersburg, Va., Nov. 5.—Returns received up to this morning from different cities and counties in the state give the readjusters a much larger vote than was expected. The debt payers are confident of a heavy vote in counties not heard from, and claim the legislature by a small majority.

MARYLAND.

Result in the City and County of Baltimore.

Baltimore, Nov. 5.—Hamilton (Dem.) has a majority for governor in this city of 1102. The remainder of the state and city ticket is about the same. Baltimore county gives 200 majority for the state ticket.

NOVA SCOTIA.

The Cable Steamer Faraday—The Recent Storm.

Halifax, Nov. 5.—The cable steamer Faraday has laid a telegraph cable for the new French company between Brest and St. Pierre, and is now laying a cable between the latter place and Cape Cod. The ship was in the heavy gale of last week, but kept steadily at work. The cable was buoyed 200 miles from Cape Cod on Sunday night. The Faraday arrived here yesterday.

The recent gale was one of the most violent ever experienced. At the Magdalene islands vessels were driven ashore, stock drowned and dwellings wrecked. At Whitehaven a dozen vessels went ashore.

THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

Deputy Sheriff Fitzgerald arrived in Oregon City last Friday evening from Harney, bringing with him Murphy, the man who killed Vickers a few months since.

Gervais elected city officers on Monday last as follows: Recorder, P. G. Stewart; marshal, W. S. Taylor; treasurer, M. Mitchell; councilmen, B. A. Nathan, J. H. Cooley, S. V. Fuller, Wm. Kriesel and Dr. E. Flynn.

The Dallas city election took place last Monday with the following result: For trustees, E. L. Delashmutt, D. N. Burns, J. J. Williams, J. R. Sites, C. McDonald; for recorder, D. T. Sears; for marshal, J. W. Grayson.

Eastern Oregon.

There are now great numbers of beef cattle for sale in Grant county.

There is a strong and growing "narrow gauge railroad sentiment" in Union county.

Col. Liang will drive twenty thousand head of beef cattle from Eastern Oregon eastward next spring.

Railroad surveyors are at work between Summerville and Woodward's station in Union county.

Miss Allie Chamberlain, of Salem, has been engaged to teach the musical department of the Blue Mountain University at La Grande.

A little son of Mr. Perry Clark was thrown from a wagon at La Grande, last week, and suffered severe bruises and a slight fracture of the skull, which it is thought will not be fatal.

About the 20th of October some person entered the house of F. Wood, at Cottonwood, and stole from Mr. P. Graderman the sum of $160, $110 of the money belonging to John Ferris. No clue to the robbers.

The Dalles city election took place last Monday with the following result: E. L. DeLashmutt, D. N. Burns, J. J. Williams, S. R. Sites, C. McDonald, trustees; D. T. Sears, recorder; J. W. Grayson, marshal.

Eastern Washington.

It is proposed to dig an irrigating ditch through Parker bottom in Yakima county.

The Peshastin mines have paid well during the past season, and will be operated next summer by improved machinery.

Yakima Record: The hay crop of this county has been unusually large for the season, and our farmers thereat are pleased. Now, whether it is a hard or an open winter, it does not make any difference, as they have plenty feed for their stock.

DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO BREAK JAIL.

The Perkins Murderers, [illegible] Assault the Jailer and Attempt to Escape—A Terrible [illegible]—The Jailer and the Prisoners Hors de Combat.

[illegible] City, Nov. 2, 1879.

About 9 o'clock yesterday morning our town was thrown into the greatest state of excitement by the announcement that the Perkins murderers, who are now under the sentence of death, were attempting to escape.

The facts, as near as I can ascertain, are as follows: A short time previous to the outbreak breakfast for the prisoners was handed into the cell by the jailer, Mr. York. After they had got through eating, Mr. York opened the cell door and stooped over to pick up the bucket which had contained their breakfast. While in this stooping position, one of the prisoners, Klup, dealt him a fearful blow on the top of the head with a slung-shot, and followed it up quickly with a second, which only, however, staggered Mr. York. Between the cell and the office there is a hallway. York retreated across this into the office, closely followed by the prisoners, Klup, Twene and Salooskin. In the office there are several loaded guns and pistols. Twene grabbed a needle gun and York retreated through the front door, Twene piercing him slightly in the shoulder with a bayonet as he went out. In the scuffle York managed to pick up a revolver from the table which he used with good effect as soon as he got to the outside window. Bleeding profusely from his wounds and leaning against the outside wall, he made four out of five shots count on the murderous fiends. Judge Brooks was up stairs and heard the firing. He grabbed a gun and some cartridges and loaded as he came down the stairway. On the outside corner to the window he turned and fired, the ball taking effect in Salooskin's elbow, breaking his left arm. York shot Klup through the shoulder and Twene in the back and groin, and by this time quite a crowd had gathered outside the court house. The Indians were inside in full possession of twenty guns and revolvers. Several more shots were fired through the windows by outsiders before the Indians retreated to their cell for safety. Goetz, formerly of Portland, our sign painter, was anchored a few steps from the building, his elbow on one knee supporting a needle gun almost as large as himself, shouting, "Yust let 'em come out, I fix 'em plenty."

The sling shot was made of a rock weighing about a pound fastened in the toe of a moccasin to which they had fixed a handle about six inches long, and a loop to go around the wrist. It is almost a miracle that Mr. York was not killed, but he was worth several dead men, as was plainly exemplified by the appearance of the prisoners after the conflict. Drs. Morrison, Taft and Clarke dressed the wounds. Salooskin and Klupt are doing well, but we fear that Twene will cheat the gallows, though he may live to meet his deserts on Saturday, Nov. 22d.

Mosquito, the murderer that turned state's evidence, was released last night; just before dark two Indians came down from Moses' camp, bringing his horses, 30 head, to pay his costs. They say that Chief Moses came to them as they started, and told them that if they came back to his country he would kill them, and told them to tell the whites of Yakima that he would unloose them should they dare to come into his domain. The London Life says that at Kambula the Zulus brought up a large body of women and stationed them in the distance to represent a strong reserve, and hints that it was by strategical dodges of this nature that Lord Chelmsford was more than once outwitted. Cetywayo had 20,000 fighting men before Ulundi. Not 1000 were killed there. Where are the 19,000?

HELP IN ACQUIRING KNOWLEDGE.—In acquiring a knowledge of the English language, and especially in learning the meaning of words, probably no other work, nor many other books altogether, can afford so much aid as Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, with its 3000 pictorial illustrations, its precise and full definitions, its careful discriminations of synonymous words, its many valuable tables, and above all with the recent additions to it of a supplement of over 4600 new words and meanings, such as have come into the language within the last few years and a new biographical table of more than 9700 names of noted persons, giving in brief the name, pronunciation, nationality, profession and date of each. It is, in itself, a whole library of the language. Let one family have a copy of this work, and use it faithfully, and another be without it,—the difference in the progress of the two families in getting knowledge will be very great.

THE WASHINGTON LEGISLATURE.

[SPECIAL REPORT FOR THE OREGONIAN.]

Olympia, Nov. 4, 1879.

Last evening a republican caucus was held and largely attended for the purpose of securing concerted action regarding the apportionment bill, soon to be introduced. It is now generally believed that this measure will be more easily accomplished than was at first anticipated.

The course taken by your correspondent in commenting upon the school books in now vogue was, at the instigation of the president of the board of education, made the subject of discussion in the house this afternoon, a resolution of investigation being offered, which was afterwards withdrawn. Your correspondent conceives it to be his duty to report all proceedings fully and impartially; using his opportunity to advance no scheme, ride no hobby and show no personal feeling. Fully realizing the confidence reposed in him by THE OREGONIAN, his effort will be to justify the same, giving your readers the news as it occurs, willfully making no mistatements and courting the consequences of all true ones.

ABOMINABLE CRIME.

A Young Child Cast into a Privy Vault by its Supposed Mother—Accidentally Rescued.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Seattle, Nov. 5.—One of the most terrible atrocities every perpetrated in this community was brought to light this morning. At about 6 o'clock Mr. Post, of the firm of Gleason & Post, of this city, heard a faint moaning sound in his privy, which he at first supposed to come from a cat. He was subsequently struck, however, by the close resemblance between the sounds and those produced by a child. He thereupon called a neighbor who chanced to be in the back yard opposite to come and listen to the sounds, and both were soon convinced that the sounds were produced by a child and immediately instituted a search for the same, but without success. They thereupon summoned the chief of police to assist in the search, and upon procuring a lantern, discovered that some person had effected entrance to the back yard through the fence during the night and with an old shovel found just over the fence had excavated a wheelbarrow load of earth from the corner of the yard and thrown it down the privy into the vault. A woman's track was subsequently found in the yard and traced across lots and thence up an alley to a point near the university, where it was lost. The moans having now ceased, the parties procured an axe, and upon tearing up the seat of the privy discovered what they supposed to be the dead body of a child lying in one corner of the vault with her. It had coiled, the earth being thrown in to conceal it. The child was immediately taken out and placed in an old box where it remained for several hours, while efforts were being made to trace out the tracks. Subsequently a bucket of cold water was thrown over it for the purpose of washing off the filth preparatory to taking it up to the sisters for burial. Upon receiving it, the sister had it placed in a tub of warm water in order to further wash for burial. Upon being placed in the water, however, the child began to revive and manifest signs of life. A physician was summoned and the little waif is now doing well. It had been dropped a distance of about eight feet into the vault, and was slightly bruised about the head and body.

The present average circulation of the New York Herald is 119,657 copies.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.

GRANT AT GALENA.

Cordially Greeted by his Old Friends and Neighbors.

Civil and Military Parade During the Day and a Brilliant Illumination in the Evening.

Grant Still Going.

MENDOTA, Ill., Nov. [illegible]—Gen. Grant's party spent the night near Lon[illegible] and the party sat up until after midnight receiving election returns. The journey was resumed this morning at Mendota. A[illegible] was held in church, where a brief speech was made. The inevitable handshaking followed and the party returned to the depot and entered a special train of the [illegible] Central from Chicago, in which were Senator Logan, Gov. Cullom, Gov. Smith of W[illegible] and others. Gov. Cullom introduced Grant to the crowd, but he refused to make a speech and the train moved off amid cheers.

Arrival at Galena.

GALENA, Nov. 4.—The train bearing the Grant party stopped at Dixon, Polo and other points along the line reaching Galena at 3:30 P. M. The reception here at his old home was one to be remembered. The great good will and affection characterized the meeting. As the train came in numerous salutes were fired and the vicinity of the station was literally packed with enthusiastic and delighted people. The militia of Galena and neighboring towns were in line at the depot and a band played Auld Lang Syne as General Grant descended from the carriage with the mayor of Galena, Gov. Cullom, Mrs. Grant and the rest of the party followed. A procession formed in the following order: Police of Galena, Freeport and Dubuque militia, old settlers of Galena, the Dubuque Veteran corps, Gen. Grant and party in carriages, and distinguished citizens of Galena. Every building was lavishly decorated and elaborate arches were erected on several streets. The procession made a circuit of the town, the school children singing America in front of Grant's family church. Finally the procession stopped at a platform where a formal greeting was extended by State Senator McClellan, to which the general replied:

Ladies and Gentlemen, Citizens of Galena: It is with some embarrassment that I reply to your welcome. It is exceedingly gratifying to me, but it is difficult for me to reply to what I have just heard, and to what I have seen. Since I first left here eighteen years ago it has always been the greatest pleasure for me to return to Galena. Now after an absence of two and half years from your city, during which time I have visited a most every country in the world, it is a pleasure to be received in this manner by you. During my travels I received princely honors but they were all one [illegible] and to you as citizens and as [illegible] of so great a country. When I saw during my absence especially in the far east how [illegible] the inhabitants had to toil even for a mere existence, I realized more than ever the greatness of our country, where want is scarcely ever known and where the question of sustenance is not daily considered. I will only add that I thank you for your reception.

Fully five minutes before the cheers which greeted Grant's speech had subsided. The crowds then called in turn for Cullom, Smith, Logan, Allison and Washburne, who each made a speech eulogizing Grant. The general then held a reception in the Desoto house.

There was a perfect jam at General Grant's reception this afternoon, which lasted until about 6 o'clock this evening. The town presents a very brilliant and beautiful spectacle. The main streets and buildings are bright with the illumination and all the houses on the surrounding hills with their brilliant lights standing out of the darkness, from their windows, and rockets and Roman candles which are continually being sent up [illegible] the town [illegible] people, all eagerly discussing the general [illegible] and the recent events of the [illegible] life of which Galena was scarcely ever [illegible]. General Grant and his family dined very quietly at their residence, which they found very nicely fitted up for them. From half past eight until ten there was an incessant stream of people on [illegible] all bent on paying their respects to the general and Mrs. Grant, who received them with a most cordial hospitality.

Grant Offered the Presidency of the Texas Pacific Railroad.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The Sun's Washington special says ex-Gov. B[illegible] is authority for the statement that an offer of the presidency of the road was [illegible] with a salary of $50,000. [illegible]

GENERAL HOOKER'S FUNERAL.

Services at Dr. Adams' Church and an Imposing Procession—Many Distinguished [illegible]—The Remains en route to Cincinnati for Burial.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

NEW YORK, Nov. [illegible]—[illegible] gazed upon the face of Gen. Hooker as the remains were lying in state in the city hall to-day, and soon after noon [illegible] closed, enveloped in an American flag, and placed in a hearse. A procession was then formed, the following gentlemen acting as pall bearers: Major General Hancock, [illegible] Newton, Case, Butterfield, Doubleday, Graham, Sharpe, Crawford and Kiddle, Vice Admiral Rowan, Rear Admiral [illegible], John Jacob Astor, Dr. T[illegible] and Marcy, Charles [illegible]. The column was formed of troops of the 3[illegible] regiment infantry, battery of light artillery, Maj. Gen. Shaler and staff, mounted, many officers of the army and navy, veterans of the Mexican war and posts of the Grand Army of the Republic. The procession marched up Broadway to Waverly Place, through Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street to Rev. D. D. Adams' church on Madison avenue. During the movement of the procession minute guns were fired, flags on public buildings and shipping flags were placed at half-mast. The streets through which the [illegible] passed were [illegible]. [illegible] California [illegible] a floral offering with the legend "California [illegible]." [illegible] About a dozen pioneers attended the hurial of the body.

After the services in the church, [illegible] by Rev. Dr. Adams, the funeral procession reformed and the remains were taken to a special train for Cincinnati. [illegible] troops formed the escort.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 5.—Minute guns were fired and bells tolled during the funeral in New York of Gen. Hooker.

A New Formation Struck in the Sierra Nevada Mine.

VIRGINIA, Nov. [illegible]—The east drift on the 2200 level from Sierra Nevada east shaft has struck a new formation showing fine quartz and carrying water to such an extent that it has stopped work for the present, rendering it impossible to proceed. The quartz looks well and gives fair assays. I cannot tell yet what it will amount to, whether a foot wide stringer or a big vein.

Miner Killed.

At 10 A. M. James Proutt, a native of Cornwall, England, aged 40 and for 12 years an employee at Chollar, was struck by a falling plank near the 2200 foot level of the Chollar, Norcross and Savage shaft and knocked down [illegible] feet. He was instantly killed.

The Republican Majority in the Legislature.

NEW YORK, Nov. [illegible]—[illegible] republicans have [illegible] other [illegible] State [illegible] returns [illegible].

Indications that the Republicans have Carried their Entire State Ticket.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—P. M.—It is thought that the state ticket is still in doubt, [illegible] the republicans have carried all of their state ticket except Soule for engineer.

The Republican Ticket, Cornell Excepted, Probably Defeated.

BROOKLYN, Nov. [illegible]—Robinson, 41,414; Cornell, 31,[illegible]. [illegible] returns this afternoon do not change the earlier announcement that Cornell is elected and the rest of the republican state ticket defeated. Robinson has a plurality [illegible] in this city and Kings county, while [illegible] in the same has a majority of 14[illegible]. It is not at all probable that the republicans outside of New York and Kings counties can overcome the [illegible] majority for this part of [illegible] regard to which there was [illegible].

Oneida County.

UTICA, Nov. [illegible]—James Stevens [illegible] elected senator from Oneida district by 100 majority. Three republican assemblymen elected in Oneida county.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The World mourns the defeat of Robinson, but thinks the end of Tammany has [illegible] Kelly has succeeded in defeating Robinson with the aid of [illegible] As for Tilden, he lashed his own political corpse as closely as he could to the living candidate of the democracy of New York and in the state has lost. The democracy has thereby been delivered of an [illegible] encumbrance.

The Tribune says: It is a victory [illegible] the future belongs to the republicans. The New York election disposes of the Tilden effort to kill John Kelly. [illegible] in the democratic party of New York than on any previous day of his [illegible] [illegible] Tilden has put an end to Tilden. He has made such a fight as no other democrat in the state could have made. Under all disadvantages of the situation Tilden has kept up the courage of the party, holding them well together.

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV 6, 1879

CONKLING'S DICTATORSHIP.

For the fact that the entire republican state ticket was not elected in New York Senator Conkling seems justly to blame. The ticket was dictated by himself, and was offensive to large numbers of republicans. There are multitudes who do not like a one-man power in politics, and who will not submit to it. Under the general republican awakening throughout the country, as shown by the returns from all the states, the whole republican ticket should have been elected in New York by many thousands. It would have been had judicious nominations been made. But Mr. Conkling had a ticket nominated that was pleasing to himself, but just in proportion as it was so, it was displeasing to large numbers of independent voters. Such journals as the New York Evening Post and Harper's Weekly attacked the head of the ticket and denounced the manner in which the nominations were made. The Times did the same, though in a somewhat different way. Many republicans of the independent sort refused to support a ticket which was nominated expressly for the purpose of bidding them defiance; and as Robinson was making a fight against Tammany and appeared in the role of a ring-smasher, they gave his ticket their support. Cornell was an extremely weak candidate, ran much behind his general ticket and was elected only through the division of the democratic vote. But had Conkling and his crowd let the convention alone and allowed it to nominate a ticket which would have secured the united republican strength of the state, it would have been successful by a great majority. He chose, however, to nominate a ticket whose appearance before the people would be taken as a "rebuke" to the administration and a triumph over those republicans who do not profess to be his personal admirers. Doubtless this is a fine way for a great man to minister to his own vanity, but it is not good political leadership. Great numbers of republicans accepted his challenge by refusing to vote the ticket, and the result is only a partial triumph where otherwise there would have been overwhelming success.

AGRICULTURE IN ENGLAND.

The current number of Scribner's Monthly has an article on the agricultural distress in Great Britain which supplies information of peculiar value to those who, like ourselves, are interested in English crops and markets. That the past harvest season had been one of almost continual rainfall we knew by telegraphic and other reports; but this writer makes the astonishing statement that from the first of January to the first of August of the present year there were not more than four clear days. And since the first of August there have been very frequent rains. No such rainfall as that of the present season has ever been recorded in the British islands. In ordinary seasons the wheat and barley crops in England are cut and stacked by the middle of August, but this year the beginning of harvest was weeks later, because there had been no sunshine to ripen the grain. During the harvest, operations were much interrupted by rains, and in consequence much of the wheat is of low grade and value.

In former years a short crop of wheat in England, as this writer says, made but a trifling difference in the net results to the farmers, for just so soon as it was known that the crop would fall below the average the prices went up, bringing in to the grower about the same amount for a short as for a full crop. This is now no longer the case. Though it is now positively known that there will be a vast deficiency, prices are not quoted greatly above what good wheat would often bring in seasons of average crops. This, it is asserted, is due solely to American competition. That English farmers should be restive under it is not surprising. But the millions who want bread will tolerate no more corn laws.

Under the disadvantages of the English agricultural system it is not possible for English farmers to compete with those of America; and this writer makes the reasons plain. Except in rare instances farmers do not own the land they cultivate; yet under existing conditions they are even better off than if they were sole proprietors and held a fee simple. For the value of farming land in England is not based on what it is capable of producing; it is chiefly valuable because it gives its owner and his family a social position exceedingly difficult to attain by any other means. In his articles of agreement with his tenants the English landlord is usually very arbitrary; everything is for the purpose of protecting the owner's interests. The farmer must keep one-third of the whole number of acres in permanent pasture and meadow during occupancy; he must not deviate from the four-course rotation of crops specified in the lease, and he must have $100 working capital for every acre he hires. The annual rent for good farming land in England is from eight to nine dollars an acre, and to this must be added rates and taxes, which will make the actual rent not less than ten dollars. Yet the land-owner at best realizes no more than two per cent. from his investment. This is owing to the enormous price paid for farming land on account of its social valuation. Before the days of American competition the tenant might make, and did make from seven to eight per cent. But this is no longer possible. English agricultural authorities assert that the farmers of England, under the most favorable circumstances, cannot grow wheat with any profit for less than $1 50 a bushel, and that the margin of profit at this figure is comparatively small.

The English farmer, being extremely conservative, adheres to and pursues old, clumsy methods. His tools and implements are of a kind that require much unnecessary expenditure of labor. There is more wood and iron in an English farm cart than would make two American carts, and yet with their excellent roads they load their carts no more heavily than we do ours. The weight of an English plow is three times as great as that of an American plow. It is apparent that the waste of physical labor with such implements is great. Nearly all farm work is done by hand, and labor saving farm machinery, such as we use, is almost unknown.

The article concludes with the statement that agriculture in England, once a prominent and vital interest, has now fallen to the third or fourth place. Even the London Times, once the champion of this industry, now hardly recognizes its existence, and will devote more space in its columns in one week to a boat race than it will in two years to agricultural interests.

ILL-ADVISED UTTERANCES.

A letter from Senator Ben Hill of Georgia to Representative Chittenden of New York is published, in response to a letter addressed to Hill by Chittenden through the New York Tribune. Hill is exceedingly bitter in his reply, and states without mincing it, the whole doctrine of brigadier politics. He condemns the north for its alleged hatred of the south, holds the north responsible for both slavery and secession; declares that the north compels all southerners to be democrats by the assertion that secession was a crime; asserts that the northern people have no knowledge of the constitution and no respect for it; says that the southern people honestly believed they had a right to secede, and therefore denounces as unmanly as it is untruthful the attempt to treat an act which grew out of honest differences of opinion as a traitorous rebellion, and says the south will be solid so long as the north continues to proclaim the rebellion a crime.

All this is but a repetition of the talk of the extra session. How it is to help the two sections of the country to a more harmonious agreement and better understanding is not apparent. The highest interest of the south consists in allowing secession and rebellion—or "the differences" as it pleases Hill to call them—to rest undisturbed. So long as the south persists in being solid in active defense of the doctrines and acts of the rebellion, the north will of necessity interpret such solidity as a menace to national security and peace. So long as men like Hill, who were leaders of the rebellion, proclaim themselves the true patriots of the country, insist in substance that secession was constitutional and right, and denounce the northern people for ignorance of the constitution and disregard of it, they will find a north united as firmly against them as it was from 1861 to 1865.

The best thing men like Brigadier Hill could do would be to cease defending or discussing the rebellion. The northern people will not change their views about it to accommodate sensitive Mr. Hill and his associates. And they will continue to esteem themselves at least as good guardians of the constitution and the national union as the men who, without other cause than that they had lost an election and been turned out of political power, waged a bloody and desperate war to destroy both the constitution and the union. The relation between cause and effect was never more manifest than between talk like this from Hill and his associates and the steady tale of "republican gains" told by the election returns of this year.

A Washington dispatch reports that it has been ascertained from the auditor of Pacific railroad accounts that the Central Pacific Company is required to pay into the sinking fund under the Thurman act for the year 1878, about $1,000,000. It is also stated on authority of the same officer that the company will have to pay in $900,000 for the current year. These amounts are exclusive of the sums due the company for services rendered. The recent decision of the United States supreme court puts a stop to all efforts on the part of the Pacific railroad companies to resist the payment required by the Thurman act, and the Central Pacific Company, therefore, will be called upon to make a speedy settlement for the year 1878, and to pay over promptly the amount due for the current year. No dividend can be declared by the company until the requirements of the law are complied with. The Union Pacific Company, in consequence of the large amount of business transacted for the government during the current year, will not be called upon to pay any cash to the sinking fund. The services rendered the government by that company will, it is believed, exceed the amount required from it for that fund.

The French have claimed that a majority of the population of Alsace and Lorraine—conquered by the Germans—speak the French language, but this proves to be untrue. Recent official inquiries show that Alsace-Lorraine contains 1,272,000 civilians who speak German and 259,000 who speak French. The German was the language of the provinces centuries ago, before they were conquered by the French. Among the most persistent of survivals is that of a native language among a people.

Sixty miles of the Northern Pacific extension west of Bismarck have been fully completed. The track will soon reach the Little Missouri, at which point a promising town has already started. The work will continue through the "bad lands." This winter a bridge 600 feet long will be built over the Little Missouri. The survey is complete to the Yellowstone, which river it strikes near Glendive.

ALTHOUGH MANY ARE PREDISPOSED TO LUNG TROUBLES FROM BIRTH, yet even such may escape Consumption, or other Pulmonary or Bronchial disease, if due care and watchfulness be observed, and all exciting causes are promptly treated as they arise. It is in these cases Dr. Jayne's Expectorant exercises its most beneficial effects and has produced the largest proportion of its cures. Besides promptly removing Coughs and Colds, which, when left to themselves, are the immediate causes of tuberculous development, this standard remedy allays any inflammation which may exist, and by promoting easy expectoration, cleanses the lungs of the substances which clog them up, and which rapidly destroy when suffered to remain. Sold by Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, Or.

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 6, 1879.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—12:35 A. M.—For Pacific slope, partly cloudy weather and slight rains from San Francisco north to Washington territory.

CITY.

AN INTERESTING NEWSPAPER.—Mr. Frank Esbrooks, one of THE OREGONIAN compositors, has a copy of the Illustrated Constellation, published in New York in 1859. The paper is a thirteen column, eight page, single sheet paper, 70 by 100 inches, and is eight times as large as THE DAILY OREGONIAN. The columns are 40 inches long. The head, illustrations, chases and column rules were made to order for the publication, and it is said that a press was cast especially for it. The paper, if set in nonpareil type solid, would require 1,617,200 ems, and at the present price, 50 cts per thousand, would cost $808.60 for composition alone. Twenty-eight thousand copies of the paper were printed and sold, but it never reached a second number. The publisher lost $10,000 on the first issue.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—About 12 o'clock last night, Mrs. Morgan, who lives on Clay street, between Third and Fourth, attempted to commit suicide by hanging herself. She had retired as usual with her husband and when the latter had fallen asleep went into the cellar, stepped on a box, adjusted a noose which she had previously prepared and kicked the box over. The noise awakened her husband, who ran into the cellar and held her up, at the same time calling for aid, which was rendered by a man who occupied a portion of the house. The woman was cut down, and although her throat was severely bruised where it came in contact with the rope, she was not seriously injured. It is said that trouble about a small piece of property led to the suicidal attempt.

OREGON ALMONDS.—Two varieties of Oregon almonds, grown on the farm of Mr. W. P. Watson, near The Dalles, have been exhibited at this office. One variety is known as the "Watson Seedling," and the other the "Languedoc." The almonds are plump, large and the kernels delicious. With a little age these almonds will be equal to any grown in the southern states. Mr. Watson has 30 almond trees which are bearing nuts. He has also left at this office samples of dried Italian prunes, which for delicacy and richness of flavor cannot be surpassed anywhere. He has about 600 prune trees on his place, all of which are bearing fruit.

FUNERAL.—The funeral of the late Thomas M. Holmes took place yesterday from the Holton House. The members of Columbian Engine Company 3, of which deceased had been a member; delegations from the several fire companies of the city and the City Rifles, under Captain W. A. Hart, attended the last sad rites. The procession was headed by the Washington Guard Band. Following the organizations mentioned came a long cortege of carriages containing sympathizing friends. The remains were laid at rest at St. Mary's cemetery.

THE WEST SIDE ROAD.—The track on the west side road has been laid two and a half miles beyond Independence, as far as the iron [illegible] reach. The grading has been completed to Corvallis, except one or two [illegible]. The road will run through 5th street, Corvallis, to the depot in the southern end of the city. The Eliza McNeil, with a cargo of rails, enough to finish the road to Corvallis, is expected to arrive soon, as the iron will be laid within a month after its arrival here.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK A TRAIN.—An atrocious attempt was made to ditch train No. 2 on the O. & C. R. R., between the fair grounds and [illegible], Tuesday evening. The train had slackened speed in order to allow a gentleman to alight, and the engineer, Mr. Charles McLeod, saw by the rays of the head light a large plank lying across the track. He slowed down as quickly as possible and the train passed over with only a slight jar.

THE NEW BARGE.—The Astorian of yesterday says: The Dixie brought the new barge up to Astoria yesterday and placed her alongside the Tecumseh to receive the iron for the Western Oregon railroad, which will be conveyed to Portland and sent to the [illegible] in Benton county to complete the road to Corvallis. The barge is a very large and commodious one, decked over, but without a [illegible].

APPROPRIATIONS.—Last evening the common council made an authorization of $15 for the purchase of oil cloth pants and coats to be worn by city prisoners while working on the streets during stormy weather. An appropriation was also made of $22, to be used in the erection of a street lamp at the corner of South Fifth and Caruthers streets.

DEATH AT GERVAIS.—Dolph Matt, son of the proprietor of the Occidental Hotel at Gervais, died Tuesday at 11 P. M., aged 19 years. He was suffering from typhoid and delirious fever, and refused to take food or medicine of any kind for two weeks before his death. He fairly starved himself and died in great agony.

RESTED EASY.—Detective J. M. McCoy had a very severe hemorrhage yesterday and fears were entertained that he could not recover from the sinking spell which followed it. However he fell to sleep at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and was resting peacefully at midnight.

FROM ASTORIA.—A dispatch from Astoria to the Merchants' Exchange at 1 P. M. yesterday says: State of California arrived 10:30 A. M. and left for Portland at noon. Another dispatch at 3:30 P. M. says: Steamer [illegible] arrived down 1 P. M. and crossed out 3 P. M.

ENTERTAINMENT POSTPONED.—Owing to the severe illness of Prof. E. Cook, the elocutionary and musical entertainment announced for Friday evening of this week, has been postponed until next week. The evening will be announced in to-morrow's OREGONIAN.

PINAFORE WANTED.—Manager John Maguire is in receipt of several letters from various towns requesting him to visit them with Pinafore. Assurance of financial success is stated in all the correspondence.

NOMINATION ENDORSED.—Vigilance Hook and Ladder Company met last evening and unanimously endorsed the nomination of Mr. Frank Harrington for the position of first assistant engineer of P. F. D.

PINAFORE MATINEE.—Box sheet for sale of Pinafore tickets for Saturday matinee opens this morning. It is advisable to reserve in time, as there will be a booming house.

DECLARED HIS INTENTION.—Yesterday [illegible] Ekonometes declared his intention to become an American citizen.

MILITARY NOTES.

Leave of absence for one month is hereby granted Lieut. Col. Elisha I. Baily, surgeon and medical director of this department.

Pursuant to instructions from the adjutant general of the army, dated October 21st, 1879, a board of officers to consist of Col. Henry A. Morrow 21st Infantry, Maj. Edwin C. Mason, 21st infantry, acting assistant inspector general; Asst. Surgeon Chas. L. Heizmann, U. S. A., Capt. John A. Kress, ordnance department is appointed to meet at these headquarters on Thursday, the 6th instant, at 10 o'clock A. M., or as soon thereafter as practicable, for the examination of candidate Edward H. Moore, who has been selected for the appointment of second lieutenant in the army of the United States. The board will be governed in its examination by the provisions of General Orders No. 81, series of 1873, and orders of the secretary of war of [illegible] 1879, from the war department.

PERSONAL.

W. A. Smith was drawn as a grand juror yesterday morning to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late I. Renshaw.

Mr. Norwood L. Curry, for many years with J. K. Gill & Co., has gone to Mehama, Marion county, where he will open business for himself. Success to him.

Mr. Wm. Reid has returned from a visit of two weeks or more from the great grain growing section of Eastern Oregon and Washington. He carefully examined the country and is enthusiastic in its praises.

Mooney & Valentine of 203 First street, desiring to greatly reduce their present large stock of dress goods, will offer for the next 30 days their entire line of these goods at greatly reduced prices, and much below the real value. An early examination will convince purchasers that the best bargains in these goods may now be had at this establishment. Give them an early call.

G. D. Harvey, who exhibited the hot water system of warming buildings at the Mechanics' Fair, will remain in the city for ten days, during which time he will examine buildings and furnish estimate of cost free of charge, on application. Enquire at J. Barrett's or J. Donnerberg's.

CITY FATHERS.

REGULAR MEETING OF THE COMMON COUNCIL FOR THE CONSIDERATION OF PETITIONS, REMONSTRANCES, COMMUNICATIONS, REPORTS, ORDINANCES AND RESOLUTIONS.

Last evening at 7:30 a regular meeting of the common council was held at the chamber.

His Honor Mayor Thompson in the chair; R. L. Durham auditor and clerk, and Chief Lappeus in attendance.

Members present: Gerdes, Keller, Nicklin, Oppitz, Payne, Simon, Stable, Weber.

Absent—Watson.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

PETITIONS.

A petition was read from Catherine Norton in regard to a claim against the city due for boarding prisoners confined in the city jail; referred to committee on health and police.

REPORTS.

From committee on ways and means to whom had been referred petition of Rev. T. L. Eliot. The committee reported an ordinance which authorized an appropriation of $50 for his relief, and recommended its passage; report filed.

From the committee on landings and wharves in regard to the petition of Captain Geo. H. Flanders and others for permission to construct a wharf at the foot of D street. The committee recommended that the prayer of the petitioners be granted; adopted.

From the city surveyor in regard to the change of grades on certain streets; referred to the committee on streets.

From the city surveyor in regard to the extension of Market street from Eighth to the line of Chapman's donation claim; referred to committee on streets.

From the chief of police, showing the number of days worked by the city prisoners on the streets; filed.

LEASING THE LEVEE.

The following communication was read from the City Attorney and filed:

OFFICE OF THE CITY ATTORNEY,
PORTLAND, Nov 5, 1879.

To the Committee on Judiciary of the City of Portland—GENTLEMEN: In response to your request, I have considered the question submitted as to the right of the city to make a lease of the premises known as the "city levee" and herewith submit my views thereon:

The block was dedicated by Stephen Coffin, the donee of the land, who reserved unto himself and his heirs and assigns the right, franchise and privilege of a ferry, or ferry-landing, and the same was dedicated for the use of a public landing or levee. It is now in the same state as when dedicated by Mr. Coffin fifteen years ago.

This dedication is for a specified use, and the city has no authority to divert this property from the use to which it was dedicated, either by lease or otherwise. But it is within the power of the city, if they so choose, to lease the same in such a way and to such person or corporation as will use the same for the purposes for which it was dedicated and which were reasonably in contemplation by the grantee.

Our supreme court, quoting from an Iowa case, say: "Nothing can be clearer than if a grant is made for a specified, limited and defined purpose, the subject of the grant cannot be used for another purpose." It follows as a consequence that whatever is necessary to carry out the intent of the grantor may be done. His intent is the limit, and the sole limit of the use to which it can be put.

The lessees, if they shall undertake to use it for a purpose not warranted by the terms of the grant, will do so at their peril. But this will not imperil the rights of the city to the property. I think there can be no doubt but this is the law.

(Warren vs. Lyons City, 22 Iowa, 351; Barclay vs. Howell's lessee, 6 Peters, 507; 1 Ohio, 478; 8 Ohio, 552; Chapman vs. Wilbur, 4 Oregon, 362).

I am therefore of the opinion that the lease asked for may be safely made without danger to the interests of the city. Very respectfully submitted,

J. C. MORELAND, City Attorney.

MONEY DRIFT.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were read and adopted:

Resolved, That the auditor and clerk be directed to issue alias warrants for the collection of assessments for the improvement of the following streets: South Fifth street and South Fourth street; also for the extension of Second and N streets, to be issued upon the return of the original warrants.

Resolved, That C. W. Burrage, Frank Dekum and Lloyd Brooke be and are hereby appointed viewers of the proposed extension of E street from the Couch line to the west line of the city, to meet at the office of the auditor and clerk on Saturday, Nov. 15, 1879, at 10 o'clock A. M. and proceed to make an assessment of damages and benefits occasioned by such extension.

Resolved, That the auditor and clerk give notice of the appointment of said viewers in the manner provided by the city charter.

MANY HAPPY RETURNS.

The Great I. X. L. Auction Co., celebrate, to day, the first anniversary of their establishment in Portland. The success of this firm has been phenomenal. They are better known throughout the country than most of the oldest houses here, and they are popular with customers of all classes. Their prosperity is a proof of the natural result of fair business transactions and a strict adherence to all promises. In celebration of the event, we notice they publish in our advertising columns a price list which is especially worthy of careful consideration. We wish them many happy returns of the occasion.

That Skeleton Clock can be seen at Gus Miller's.

To City or Country Storekeepers. A nice lot of fancy goods for sale cheap at Mrs. Chas. Tichnor's, Portland, Oregon.

As a tonic, and for all nervous complaints, Simmonds' "Nabob Whisky" is unequaled. To be had at all druggists and grocers.

The large stock of Comstock & Pfluger's is being sold at cost. Many are taking advantage of the circumstances.

The Blacksmith's Dream will exhibit for a few days corner on First street, between Yamhill and Taylor. The same popular prices will be maintained.

Nabob Whisky is recommended by the faculty for family and medical use. It is pure and the best whisky on the Pacific coast for indigestion, nervousness and dyspepsia.

REMOVAL.—Coggins & Beach have leased the stand, 103 Front st., formerly occupied by T. A. Davis & Co., and are now prepared to offer Doors, Sash, Paints, Oils, Glass, Brushes, Colors, etc., at lowest rates. Sole agents for Averill Mixed Paints, the oldest and most reliable.

D. W. Prentice & Co., Music Dealers, will remove Nov. 1st to the store lately occupied by J. K. Gill & Co., 107 First street, where with largely increased stock in all their lines they will be glad to meet their old friends and customers. Messrs. P. & Co. intend making their store the center of attraction for goods in their line, and are determined to continue to hold prices down to New York prices. They have the largest and most complete assortment of musical merchandise in this city.

THE CONCORDIA CLUB PARTY.

A PLEASANT SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENT AT TURN HALLE LAST NIGHT.

The Concordia Club, an association of young Jewish gentlemen, held a social party at Turn Halle last night, the attendance being large and fashionable. Salem, Eugene, and other neighboring cities were represented in the company. The costumes of the ladies, all handsome and appropriate, were, in many instances, elaborate and rarely beautiful, comporting finely with the conventional evening dress of the gentlemen. A company of excellent musicians, under the directorship of Prof. Brenner, furnished delightful music during the evening, and the supper, served in the large dining hall, was recherche.

Following is a list of the persons present:

AMUSEMENTS.

PINAFORE.—As this brilliant opera bouffe runs on its course of success it developes new beauties. The ensemble is now smooth and effective; the crudities inseparable from the first performance, have been toned down and the result is a finished and thoroughly enjoyable performance. Miss Andrews has, in a great extent, recovered her voice, as the sharpness of intonation which marred her otherwise excellent singing, has almost disappeared. Her organ is a very sonorous and rich one and her style is bold and well schooled. her upper register is pure and brilliant and her sostenuto steady and full. As to her acting of the part that, of course, is beyond cavil. Miss Gliefden looks the very impersonation of the goddess of youth whose name, "Hebe" she bears on the bills. Her sylph-like form and delicate features combined with her arch manner and liveliness of action admirably fit the character, while her bright metallic voice tells forcibly the music of the part. Mrs. Parrish displays a well taught and powerful contralto in the roll of Buttercup and her acting is very much above the average of amateurs. Mr. Doud shows a good tenor voice of rather limited compass, but of great purity of tone. His acting is rather tame, but inappropriate. Tenors are not usually good actors and Mr. Doud is fully up to the general pitch.

Of Messrs. Fred Lyster and W. H. Kinross it is needless to speak; both of these gentlemen have made their mark long since as operatic vocalists and actors, and they keep up their well earned fame. Mr. Lownsdale, "Deadeye," improves nightly, and is really at present a very satisfactory performance, showing little marks of the amateur, but rather the aplomb of the old stage. The orchestra is much better, albeit we think the time is frequently taken too slow, especially in the elaborate finale to the first act, which should be whipped up towards the end so as to make a grand climax and raise the excitement to high water mark.

"The boatswain tight
And the midship mite,
And the crew of the captain's gig."

All deserve, well little Dot especially, she is "just as cute as ever she can be." Altogether "Pinafore" as given at the New Market Theater, fully merits the liberal patronage bestowed on it by the public at large, as the crowded houses amply testify.

On the return of the company from the tour which is in contemplation, we are to have the "Doctor of Alcantara" the "Little Duke" and others of the fashionable school of light opera, under the direction of Mr. Fred Lyster, one of the pioneers of opera on the Pacific slope. Mr. Maguire is to be congratulated in having apparently struck a lead which may prove a bonanza.

WM. SCHEFFLER'S ST. HELENA

SANITARY, VACUUM DISTILLED GRAPE BRANDY AND GOOD OLD RISCH HILL WINES.

Mr. Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling, by which the fusil oils are left with the residue and not incorporated with the brandy, leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat. California Physicians have pronounced their preference of it to all others. Doctor Cox, government revenue officer at Cincinnati, Ohio, says in his report, that after ten years' of close investigation he can safely say that very few, if any, pure wines or brandy are exported from the Old Continent to this. He has found none in his many analyses that are not doctored before leaving France. The French Consul at Buenos Ayres writes home to his government that so much complaint is made there of the appearance of litharge and other dangerous drugs in all their French wines, that there is great danger of losing the trade of the Argentine States. Other proofs could be cited were it necessary, to prove the superiority of the best class of California wines and brandy. Orders from responsible parties, addressed to Wm. Scheffler, or Geo. H. Beach, St. Helena, Napa county, Cal. will receive prompt attention.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO THE PUBLIC.

Matter not Addressed to a Postoffice Unmailable—Matter Misdirected Unmailable.

CIRCULAR LETTER FROM SUPERINTENDENT RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE, EIGHTH DIVISION.

Under the recent orders of the postmaster general and the rulings of the postoffice department, published in the October Number of the United States Official Postal Guide, all mail matter not addressed to a postoffice is unmailable and must be forwarded at once to the dead letter office, unless the envelope shall bear the name of the sender or other indication whereby it may be returned to the sender for better direction. Military posts and forts are excepted from this order.

In compliance with instructions received from the postoffice department, this office is now compiling a list of "locals" (that is names of places not postoffices to which mail matter is directed) for this division, embracing the states of California, Oregon and Nevada, and territories of Alaska, Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Washington and Utah. The list (incomplete) for California alone now contains the names of 2764 "locals" or places not postoffices to which mail matter is directed.

In pursuance of further instructions this office will, upon the application of any publishing house detail a competent clerk from our service to examine their lists of subscribers for the purpose of eliminating therefrom all "locals" and substituting the proper postoffices, and will furnish any information or render any assistance in its power to prevent loss and injury to business or inconvenience to the public.

To illustrate: A letter or other mail matter directed to State University, California, East Oakland, Cal., Mud springs, Eldorado county, California, or to any locality not a postoffice, is unmailable and must be sent at once to the dead-letter office at Washington, D. C.

In a still later "Order" of the postmaster general, dated Oct. 10th, is the following: "A postmaster may complete or perfect an address already made, but he cannot change its direction to a different person, or different office or different state, without authority." * * * * "Misdirected matter offered for mailing should be returned to the sender, if known, immediately; or if the sender's name does not appear thereon should be sent at once to the dead letter office, as directed in ruling 102 United States Official Postal Guide, October, 1879." A part of ruling 102 is important, and is as follows: "Matter addressed to places which are not postoffices, or to a state in which there is no such postoffice as that named in the address is unmailable," etc. Hence, to illustrate: A letter directed to Sacramento Nevada, or to Virginia City, Cal., or to either of these places with the state omitted is unmailable and must be sent to the dead letter office. Why? For the reason that there are six postoffices each in a different state by the name of Sacramento but no postoffice of that name in Nevada. Consequently how can a postmaster determine whether the letter should be sent to Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, Nebraska, Pennsylvania or California? The same reason holds good when applied to Virginia City. There are seven postoffices called Philadelphia, three New York, eight Cincinnati, 15 Louisville, 4 Chicago, and 4 St. Louis. There is only one in the United States called San Francisco, consequently mail matter directed to San Francisco is not likely to be sent to the dead letter office, as a postmaster can complete the address with safety. It may not, however, be very long before there may be several postoffices by the name of San Francisco in other states or territories.

The hearty co-operation and assistance of all postoffice officials, all newspapers, all teachers in the public schools, and all intelligent citizens should be given toward the successful accomplishment of this great work of the postoffice department for the correction of this already overgrown and growing evil, dangerous to the business and social interests of the public and threatening utter confusion to the legitimate business and duties of the postoffice department; which, as now defined, are to carry in the mails such mail matter only as is directed to postoffices with state or territory, and to such postoffices only, as can be found in the state or territory to which such mail matter is directed. To continue the present imperfect system, would only encourage carelessness and indifference on the part of the public in matters where the greatest care should be observed.

To appreciate the extent of this evil in the postal service one only has to visit the mailing department of some large postoffice or ride a day in a postal car. There will be found letters addressed in every conceivable way, and to all places without regard to their being postoffices, and not a few, sometimes, will be found without any address whatever—perfectly blank. Postal cards are frequently found without address. It will be observed that this new system or practice, adopted by the department, contemplates the great task of individual notice to every person sending misdirected mail matter, thereby establishing compulsory education and care in such matters.

For further information, you are referred to the October number of the United States Official Postal Guide and the postal laws and regulations, edition 1879, furnished to all postmasters.

The order of the postmaster general of September 20th, establishing this new practice, concludes as follows: "It is believed that the temporary inconvenience which may arise from a strict enforcement of this ruling will be more than compensated for by the increased certainty of the delivery of matter to its destination." Very respectfully,

H. J. McCUSICK,
Sup't R. M. S. 8th Div.

SUICIDE.

A distinguished Scientist once said: "No man with a strong, healthy stomach ever committed suicide, yet many suffer the torments of the damned with dyspepsia when a single bottle of DR. MINTIE'S ENGLISH DANDELION LIVER AND DYSPEPSIA PILLS will give relief, and, if persisted in, cure the worse case of this distressing trouble. This pill cures torpid liver, biliousness, sallow complexion, foul breath, sick headache, heartburn, pain in side and back, removes pimples from the face, regulates the bowels, is sugar-coated and guaranteed purely vegetable. It acts directly on the coating of the stomach and on the liver; is suited to any climate, wet or dry weather. Beware of imitations; genuine has cut of lion on outside wrapper. Price, 50 cents. Sold by all druggists. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, wholesale agents.

How to Save Money.

Instead of going to a doctor, if you have Bright's Disease, Diabetes, pain in back and loins, smarting, inflammation, calculi, brick-dust deposit, or any trouble of the kidneys or bladder, buy a bottle of DR. MINTIE'S NEPHRETICUM, the great Buchu Compound. It is the best prescription ever compounded for these troubles. Abrams & Carroll, Wholesale Druggists, say: "We regard Nephreticum as the best Kidney and Bladder Remedy in the market." Woodward, druggist, Portland, Oregon, says: "Everybody speaks highly of it." Childs, druggist, Portland, says: "Sold lots of it; it always does the work." Many have been cured of obstinate kidney complaints after the doctors gave them up. Sold by all druggists. Price $1 25. AFTER FOUR YEARS' SEARCH.

AN ALLEGED MURDERER ARRESTED

Jack Bishop, Charged with the Murder of a Colorado Banker in 1875, is Tracked by J. C. Ross, a San Jose Detective, to this City, is Arrested, and Awaits Requisition—The Prisoner's Statement.

The very old maxim that "murder will out" had another exemplification in this city yesterday. Jackson C. Bishop was arrested yesterday morning by Detective J. C. Ross of San Jose, Cal., for the alleged murder of Jacob Snyder, a banker of Georgetown, Clear Creek county, Colorado, committed late in the fall of 1875. The arrest was made quietly, without the knowledge of the police authorities, but an OREGONIAN reporter through a friend, learned the whereabouts of the detective, Mr. Ross, and found him at his rooms with a private family on Seventh street last night.

After our reporter introduced himself, he was invited to be seated, and stated his mission.

Mr. Ross replied: "Well, I've got my man, and I don't see that it would make any difference if it got into the papers." He gave a short statement of the murder which was the result of a lawsuit growing out of some mining claims owned jointly by Bishop and his victim. Mr. Ross continued: "I was formerly on the Oakland police force, but resigned long ago, [illegible] the business of private detective at San Jose. I got trace of Bishop a year ago in Arizona and tracked him to Los Angeles, where I lost all trace of him. About two months ago, I heard that he was in Oregon, and I determined to find him. So I came up on the State of California, October 8th, and commenced looking around. After watching a few days I saw Bishop in front of Merrill's saloon one evening, but was not positively certain, but have

HAD EYES ON HIM EVER SINCE.

I learned that he had been working as a tinner for David Cole, and was then working for J. R. Brigham. He gave his name as Ben. Wing. A day or two after I saw him as he went to work for Goldsmith & Lowenberg. I could turn my hand at the smithing and got a situation in the same shop. I watched him all day and had a man watching him all night. As soon as I was certain he was the man I telegraphed to Denver [illegible], who answered by wire this morning: 'Bishop is indicted for murder. Hold him. Requisition sent by express.' So I had him committed to the county jail to-day and will take him to Denver as soon as the papers are received."

"What reward will you receive?" asked our reporter.

"Only $1200. The first reward offered was $5000, but that was four years ago. Since that time a bank which had offered $2500 reward has failed, and the other rewards have been reduced. However, it's a good deal of satisfaction to have caught him. I heard that Harry Morse, the shrewdest and bravest detective on the coast, had been after him without success. Harry is the man who captured Vasquez, the noted Spanish desperado, who murdered more men than he could count on his fingers."

THE PRISONER'S STATEMENT.

Bishop, or Wing, or whoever he may be, is a tall young man about 35 years old, has dark blue eyes, brown hair, light red mustache, and a ruddy complexion. He says that he is not Bishop; that Bishop is a much larger and heavier man, and that any man who takes Jack Bishop back to Clear creek county, Colorado will himself be lynched.

Mr. Ross is quite a young man, very modest, and quiet, and states that it is absolutely certain that his man is the real murderer.

HIS OCCUPATION GONE.

Had the Arkansas "doctor" that "tapped" the fat man, thinking he had dropsy, but finding no water pronounced it "dry dropsy," lived to-day, he would, like Othello, find his occupation gone, for Allan's Anti-Fat, a purely vegetable remedy, safely, but positively, reduces corpulency from three to six pounds per week. Sold by druggists.

Our fair city has nine handsome Drug stores, and they all agree that PFUNDER'S OREGON BLOOD PURIFIER is the most popular remedy sold.

Read and Learn for yourself.

Many valuable discoveries and much useful knowledge is kept from the world because of the immense expense in making it known to the people. This is not the case with BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP. Although but a few years introduced into this country, its sale now reaches in every town and village in the United States. Its wonderful success in curing consumption, severe Coughs, Pneumonia, Asthma and all other diseases of the throat and lungs was first made known by distributing every year, for three years, over 400,000 bottles to the afflicted, free of charge by druggists. No such a test of merit was ever given before to any other preparation. Could you ask more? Go to your druggist and get a bottle 75 cents and try it. Sample bottles 10 cents.

White's Prairie Flower,

Taken before retiring, will insure good night's rest, will an awakening in the morning to health, courage and vigor. For coated tongue, bad breath, sick headache, or any disturbance arising from dyspepsia or torpid liver, it is without a peer. Its action on disease is entirely different from any medicine ever introduced, quieting pains almost instantly. The hue and cry raised against it by patent medicine men, who have failed in its advent, the destruction of their nefarious business, and the thousands of unsolicited testimonials flowing in from all parts of the New World is a sure indication of its great merits. Trial size at all Drug Stores. Half pound bottles 75 cts.

NOMINATION FOR CHIEF ENGINEER.

W. H. ANDRUS, OF NO. 1.

HALL OF WILLAMETTE ENGINE CO. NO. 1,
PORTLAND, Ogn., Oct. 3, 1879.

AT A REGULAR MEETING OF WILLAMETTE Engine Company No. 1, held at their hall on Thursday evening Oct. 2, 1879, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, Sound judgment and deliberate conduct in the active discharge of his duties are the pre-eminent requisites of ability in the head officer of a live and efficient fire department; and

WHEREAS, A fireman of many years' active service possessing such marks of ability, who has served for nearly four years as chairman of the committee of the common council, having control of matters relating to the needs and efficiency of the Portland Fire Department, is well worthy of the confidence and support of all firemen as a man who would ably and faithfully discharge the duties of chief engineer and successfully lead and direct the department at times of activity and critical service; therefore,

Resolved, That Willamette Engine Co. No. 1 presents Mr. W. H. Andrus to possess such worthy requisites of ability, and we, the members of said company, pledge [illegible] our hearty and united support hereby [illegible] him for the office of Chief Engineer of the Portland Fire Department, and respectfully present his name to the consideration of voters at the regular election on December 1, 1879.

IMAGINATION.

We overstate the ills of life and take
Imagination—given us to bring down
The choirs of singing angels overshone
By God's clear glory—down our earth to rake
The dismal snows instead, flake following flake,
To cover all the corn. We walk upon
The shadow of hills across a level thrown,
And pant like climbers. Near the alder brake
We sigh so loud, the nightingale within
Refuses to sing aloud, as else she would.
O brothers! let us leave the shame and sin
Of taking vainly, in a plaintive mood,
The holy name of Grief—holy herein,
That by the grief of One came all our good.

—Mrs. Browning.

THE MINISTER'S MISTAKE.

The sunset was painting all the forest paths with gold; the mossy boles of the old trees glowed in the level light, as if they had been carved out of glittering bronze, and the scarlet vines along the stone wall caught new splendor from the last rays, while the silvery white fringe of the wild clematis swung from the dead thornbushes, and here and there a bird, perched high up against the deep, vivid blue of the heavens, uttered its shrill, clear vesper note; and Mr. Caryl, walking home through the Westbrook woods, thought what a beautiful world this was that God had made.

Mr. Caryl was only four and twenty, and had been in the Westbrook parish for three months. Not long, but long enough to discern, by the testimony of his own experience, that there were thorns as well as roses in a country pastor's life.

It had seemed so beautiful and ideal, when he looked at it through the medium of his fancy, standing on the threshold of the theological seminary. It was beautiful still, but the ideality had gone out of it.

His mother met him on the door-step of the parsonage—a brisk, spectacled little dame, in a turned black silk, with frills of neatly darned lace, and violet ribbons in her cap.

"Well, Charles," she said, cheerily, "here's a whole slateful of calls for you."

Mr. Caryl's countenance rather fell. He had been anticipating an evening by the wood-fire, with the last number of Blackwood's Magazine.

"Calls?" he repeated. "What are they, and where are they?"

He went into the little parlor as he spoke—the parlor where the coveted wood-fire was leaping and flashing on the bright and-irons, and a shaded lamp was already burning on the table among his piled up books and papers—and took up the little slate.

"The Widow Cossett," he read; adding, sotto voce: "That woman again! She has died once a week regularly, ever since I have been in Westbrook."

"Charles!" mildly reproved his mother.

"It is a fact," asserted the young clergyman. "I don't think people ought to confound hypochondria and religion in this blindfold sort of way. She'd a deal better send for a doctor and leave off scolding that wretched adopted daughter of hers. I won't go—that's settled. What next? 'Meet Deacon Daley and old Captain Hartwick at Fowlersville Four Corners at half past 9 to-morrow.' Now I wonder why people can't agree about their own boundary lines without calling in the clergyman of the parish as umpire between them."

"Dissension is such a dreadful thing among your flock, Charles," said his mother.

"So is scarlet fever or smallpox," said Mr. Caryl, rather sorely; "but all the same I don't see how I can be held responsible for either the one or the other. 'Lend the manuscript of your last sermon to old Miss Dadd to read.' But I haven't any manuscript to read—only half a dozen memoranda. I preached entirely extempore last Sunday."

"Couldn't you just write it from memory?" said Mrs. Caryl, piteously. "The poor old lady seems so anxious. She said the sermon impressed her so much."

"Really, mother, I think that's a little unreasonable," said the pastor. "Suppose every old lady in the parish were to require me to write out a twelve page sermon for her especial benefit. 'Give Miss Hitts a list of hymns for next Sunday.' Yes, I'll do that—as well now as any time. 'Speak to Mrs. Prune's Sarah.' Mrs. Prune's Sarah? Who is Mrs. Prune's Sarah, And what am I to speak to her about, I'd like to know," demanded this young clergyman in a sort of mild desperation.

"Don't you know?" explained Mrs. Caryl, "it's Mrs. Prune that lives down by the steam sawmill, in the big white house, with the poplar trees in front of it. And it's her step-daughter that's come home from the third situation, all on account of the ribbons in her hat, and her pride in her own pretty face."

"And I am to speak to her, eh?" said the young pastor.

"Yes; you are to speak to her," said his mother, with some emphasis.

"But you must, Charles," pleaded the old lady. "It's in the line of your regular duty."

Mr. Caryl hesitated, and wrinkled his brow in sore perplexity.

"Do you think so?" said he.

"I'm sure of it," declared the old lady.

Conscientiousness was one of the strong points of Mr. Caryl's character. He took up his hat.

"If it's got to be done," said he desperately, "the sooner the better."

"But you'll stop for your tea first, Charles," urged Mrs. Caryl. "Hot corn-bread and strawberry jam."

"I'll stop for nothing!" said Mr. Caryl. "Don't fret, little mother; it wont take me long to speak to Sarah."

And he disappeared with a laugh.

As it happened, he never before had been called upon to practice this particular branch of his profession, pleading with the rebellious lambs of his flock, who thought more of their bright eyes than they did of their hymn-books; and he turned the matter over in his mind as he walked along the frosty woodland path, where the young moon cast a fitful, evanescent light, and the dead leaves sent up a faint odor beneath his feet.

"Speak to Sarah," he muttered to himself, not without a certain perception of the ridiculous side of the matter. "And what am I to say to her, I wonder."

He knocked softly at the big front door of the Prune mansion. A shuffling, untidy girl of 14 or 15 opened it, hiding behind a shawl and a fringe of curl-papers.

"Is Miss Prune at home?" said he.

"No she ain't," retorted the girl.

Mr. Caryl paused. He scarcely knew what question to ask next.

"Is Sarah at home?" he demanded after a little.

"Miss Sarah?"

"Well; I suppose it can hardly be 'Mr.' Sarah," said the young clergyman, half smiling. "Yes, Miss Sarah, of course."

"She's at home," said the girl, ungraciously, opening the door a little wider. "Came this afternoon. Settin' in the parlor. Walk in, please."

And without further ceremony, Mr. Caryl found himself ushered into a semi-dark apartment, where a tall, slender young beauty of 18 summers or so sat before the fire, in a plain black dress, with the simplest cuffs and collars, and a single pale blue ribbon fastened in the thick, dark braids of her hair, a person so entirely different from what we had expected to see that the stopped short in some perplexity.

"Is this—ahem!—Sarah?" he asked.

"I am Sarah Fielding," she responded.

"I have called—to speak to you," said he, with a desperate rallying of his verbal forces. "Perhaps Sarah, you may not know who I am?"

"No, I don't," said the girl in some surprise.

"I am Mr. Caryl the pastor of the parish."

"I am happy to make your acquaintance," said the girl, putting out one slim hand, in the easiest possible manner.

The pastor hesitated. This was not what he looked for at all.

"Of course—of course," said he. "But how does it happen, Sarah, that you are at home again so soon?"

"Do you mean at Westbrook?"

"Where else should I mean?" retorted Mr. Caryl, crustily—for he felt that if he once abandoned his tone of authority he was lost. "Why didn't you stay where you were?"

Sarah colored up to the roots of her hair. He could perceive that, even in the uncertain rise and fall of the firelight.

"I did not like the position," said she in a low voice.

"But you ought to like it," said Mr. Caryl.

"You are not aware of all the circumstances," pleaded Sarah.

"I am quite aware," said Mr. Caryl severely, "that vanity is the root of all your evils."

"Vanity?"

The crimson was deeper than ever now, on brow and temple, as she half rose.

"Yes, vanity!" impressively reiterated the clergyman. "Be silent, if you please, young woman, and hear me out. You have a certain amount of personal attractions, which appear to have turned your head. Remember that beauty is but skin deep. Call to mind frequently the adage, that 'Handsome is that handsome does.' After all, you are neither Mary Queen of Scots nor Cleopatra. Now take my advice, Sarah—"

"But I have not asked for it," she cried out in choked accents.

"No matter whether you have or not," said Mr. Caryl, calmly. "It is my mission to volunteer good counsel, and yours to receive it. I repeat, Sarah, take my advice and go back to your last place. Apologize humbly for your shortcomings; tell the woman of the house that you will strive to amend your conduct for the future, and endeavor to deserve her approval. Put away your silly ribbon-bows and brooches"—with a stern glance at a poor little agate breastpin that glistened at the girl's throat—"and leave the vain accessories of dress to your betters, always remembering that the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit—"

But just at this point the young clergyman's oration was abruptly checked by the entrance of Mrs. Prune herself, shawled and bonneted, and breathing fast, from the haste she had made. In one hand she held a prodigious umbrella; with the other she dragged forward the untidy damsel of the shawl and curl-papers.

"Here she is, Mr. Caryl—here she is!" bawled Mrs. Prune, who did not possess that excellent thing in a woman, "a low and gentle voice." "A lazy, good-for-nothing, stuck-up, vain minx, as needn't suppose as I'm going to do for her no longer! You needn't hang back, Sarah, it ain't no good! Here she is, Mr. Caryl—here's Sarah!"

The young pastor stared in amazement.

"Is that Sarah?" said he.

"That's Sarah," panted Mrs. Prune.

"And who's this?" he demanded, turning to the slim, dark-eyed girl, with the blue ribbon and the agate brooch.

"That's my niece, Sally Fielding, as has been governess to a family up in Maine for three years," said Mrs. Prune. "And she's down here on a visit now—came this very afternoon. Hain't you been introduced yet? Mr. Caryl, my niece, Sallie! Sallie, this ere's—"

But before she could finish the words of her formal introduction, the clergyman had made a nervous grasp at his hat.

"I—I have been the victim of a misunderstanding," stammered he. "This young person told me that she was Sarah."

"So she is," said Mrs. Prune. "But she ain't the Sarah as to be spoken to."

"I beg a thousand pardons," said Mr. Caryl; feeling the cold sweat drip from every pore.

Miss Fielding burst out laughing.

"They are cheerfully granted," said she. "No, don't go away, Mr. Caryl," holding out her hand as he was turning to depart. "I have learned that you possess at least the virtue of frankness. Shall we not be friends?"

And Mr. Caryl looked into the dark eyes, and said

"Yes."

He forgot all about the hot corn-bread and strawberry jam at home, and stayed to tea at Mrs. Prune's, while the right Sarah escaped the intended lecture, and the wrong Sarah presided, in a most graceful and winning manner, behind the cups and saucers; and old Mrs. Caryl laughed heartily when her son explained the curious encounter to her, later in the evening.

"But why did she leave her situation—the wrong Sarah I mean?" said she.

"Because the young heir of the house made love to her," said Mr. Caryl; "and I don't wonder at it. She's the prettiest little creature I ever saw in my life."

"Perhaps, then," said Mrs. Caryl, doubtfully, "your advice wasn't so much amiss, after all."

"Certainly it was," said Mr. Caryl, with spirit.

The old lady looked sharply at him.

"Charles," she said, "I do believe you're struck with her!"

"Nonsense!" said Mr. Caryl, turning red.

But, just three months later, when the moon was at the full and sleighing parties en regle, Mr. Caryl brought Miss Fielding from singing-school in his new cutter, and told her a secret on the way—that he loved her.

And so the wrong Sarah was the right Sarah after all.

MARK TWAIN IN POLITICS.

HE CONDUCTS A LARGE REPUBLICAN MEETING AND INTRODUCES GEN. HAWLEY—AND THE "INNOCENT" WAY HE DID THE JOB.

[Elmira Special, Oct. 18, to N. Y. Times.]

The largest political meeting of the campaign was held in this city by the republicans last evening. The opera house was densely packed to hear General Joseph R. Hawley, of Connecticut. Gen. Hawley was introduced by Mark Twain (Samuel L. Clemens), who said: "I see I am advertised to introduce the speaker of the evening, Gen. Hawley of Connecticut, and I see it is the report that I am to make a political speech. Now, I must say this is an error. I wasn't constructed to make stump speeches, and on that head (politics) I have only this to say: First, see that you vote. Second, see that your neighbor votes. Lastly, see that yourself or neighbor don't scratch the ticket. Gen. Hawley was president of the centennial commission. He was a gallant soldier in the war. He has been governor of Connecticut, member of congress, nominated Abraham Lincoln. He is an editor, who believes what he writes in his own paper. As the author of 'Beautiful Snow' he has added a new pang to winter. He is a broad souled, generous, noble, liberal, alive to moral and religious responsibilities. Whenever the contribution-box was passed I never knew him to take out a cent. He is a square, true, honest man in politics, and I must say he occupies a mighty lonesome position. He has never shirked a duty or backed down from any position taken in public life. He has been right every time, and stood there. As governor, as congressman, as a soldier, as the head of the centennial commission, which increased our trade in every port and pushed American production into all the known world, he has conferred honor and credit upon the United States. He is an American of Americans. Would we had more such men! So broad, so bountiful is his character that he never turned a tramp empty handed from his door, but always gave him a letter of introduction to me. His public trusts have been many, and never in the slightest did he prove unfaithful. Pure, honest, incorruptible, that is Joe Hawley. Such a man in politics is like a bottle of perfumery in a glue factory—it may modify the stench, if it doesn't destroy it. And now, in speaking thus highly of the speaker of the evening, I haven't said any more of him than I would say of myself. Ladies and gentlemen, this is Gen. Hawley."

Mr. Clemens was frequently interrupted by applause and laughter. At the close of his remarks, Gen. Hawley stepped forward and, for an hour and a half, spoke on the issues of the day.

The Commercial Herald reports stocks of goods in San Francisco as running very light, so light[illegible] that it is really difficult for interior merchants to secure any considerable line or lines of goods even at the enhanced prices. The same paper notes the fact of a very active demand for most products from Oregon and the territories. [illegible] Washington territory and British Columbia [illegible] bacon, lard, [illegible] but lately very considerable shipments of these articles have been made to northern ports from San Francisco.

Intelligent advices from San Francisco state that not more than two or three vessels in that port [illegible] for the grain trade are disengaged, and owners' agents demand [illegible] and upwards, ship owners feeling that after two unprofitable years this is their time to make some money. In the face of this firm tone and advanced demand in the market for freights, wheat, as a matter of course receded, and went from $2 1 down to $2.

In the local market to-day, there are but few features worthy of special mention. Wheat continues to arrive in important quantities and transactions occur at figures ranging from $1 20 to $1 25, the latter being about the top of the market at present. Oats are in better demand at an advance of 1@2½c per bushel on our last quotations. Provisions are gradually advancing with a more active trade and a better demand for choice meats and dairy products. Jobbers generally are holding eggs at 30c, though sales have been made at 27c.

OVERALLS

Are sold by leading dealers in this city and on this coast, because—

"THEY CONTAIN THE BEST MATERIAL,

ARE SEWN WITH LINEN THREAD,

And ARE THE MOST PERFECT FITTING."

In putting on or taking off Overalls the strain on the crotch often causes them to rip; and to remedy this we are making a continuous strip of cloth extending the entire length of both sides of the Overall from the crotch and secured there on at every stitch. I and these improvements, we claim that our brands will stand greater strain than any other make in the market.

Observe the Trade Mark and take no other.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

HAS RETURNED AFTER AN EXTENSIVE tour of the Eastern States for the past four months. The Doctor while absent visited all the principal Medical institutions in the large cities of the United States, and comes back with all the modern methods, instruments and appliances known to the most scientific men in the profession. The Doctor has also brought charts and manikins to illustrate his lecture.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN has been fifteen years lecturing on the Laws of Life and Health. In his private and public lectures he has taught men and women the true system of life how to be healthy and happy, if they would only be guided by his wise counsel. But all cannot hear his delightful and instructive lectures, nor can he tell everything necessary for suffering humanity to know from the public rostrum before a promiscuous audience. There remains much to be learned from him as his experience extends over broad fields of active professional life. This knowledge so necessary to the welfare of the sufferer can only be gleaned by private Professional Consultation at his office.

His experience in the various parts of Europe and America give him such opportunities of learning the delicate diseases which the human family are prone to, their mode of treatment and permanent cure, as no other physician on the Pacific Coast can claim. He has not only treated these diseases most successfully but has made them a life study, as a few moments' consultation will prove.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases of the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA or SEMINAL WEAKNESS or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

IT IS TRUE

That persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to extend till their constitutions become corrupted [illegible] down and the hope of future happiness [illegible] death becomes a welcome [illegible] them out of [illegible]

IMAGINATION.

We overstate the ills of life and take
Imagination—given us to bring down
The choirs of singing angels overshone
By God's clear glory—down our earth to rake
The dismal snows instead, flake following flake,
To cover all the corn. We walk upon
The shadow of hills across a level thrown,
And pant like climbers. Near the alder brake
We sigh so loud, the nightingale within
Refuses to sing aloud, as else she would.
O brothers! let us leave the shame and sin
Of taking vainly, in a plaintive mood,
The holy name of Grief—holy herein,
That by the grief of One came all our good.
—Mrs. Browning.

THE MINISTER'S MISTAKE

The sunset was painting all the forest paths with gold; the mossy boles of the old trees glowed in the level light, as if they had been carved out of glittering bronze, and the scarlet vines along the stone wall caught new splendor from the last rays, while the silvery white fringe of the wild clematis swung from the dead thornbushes, and here and there a bird, perched high up against the deep, vivid blue of the heavens, uttered its shrill, clear vesper note, and Mr. Caryl, walking home through the Westbrook woods, thought what a beautiful world this was that God had made.

Mr. Caryl was only four and twenty and had been in the Westbrook parish for three months. Not long, but long enough to discern, by the testimony of his own experience, that there were thorns as well as roses in a country pastor's life.

It had seemed so beautiful and ideal, when he looked at it through the medium of his fancy, standing on the threshold of the theological seminary. It was beautiful still, but the ideality had gone out of it.

His mother met him on the door-step of the parsonage—a brisk, spectacled little dame, in a turned black silk, with frills of neatly darned lace, and violet ribbons in her cap.

"Well, Charles," she said, cheerily, "here's a whole slateful of calls for you."

Mr. Caryl's countenance rather fell. He had been anticipating an evening by the wood-fire, with the last number of Blackwood's Magazine.

"Calls?" he repeated. "What are they, and where are they?"

He went into the little parlor as he spoke—the parlor where the coveted wood-fire was leaping and flashing on the bright and-irons, and a shaded lamp was already burning on the table among his piled up books and papers—and took up the little slate.

"The Widow Corsett," he read; adding, sotto voce: "That woman again! She has died once a week regularly, ever since I have been in Westbrook."

"Charles!" mildly reproved his mother.

"It is a fact," asserted the young clergyman: "I don't think people ought to confound hypochondria and religion in this blindfold sort of way. She'd a deal better send for a doctor and leave off scolding that wretched adopted daughter of hers. I won't go—that's settled. What next? 'Meet Deacon Daley and old Captain Hartwick at Fowlersville Four Corners at half past 9 to-morrow.' Now I wonder why people can't agree about their own boundary lines without calling in the clergyman of the parish as umpire between them."

"Dissension is such a dreadful thing among your flock, Charles," said his mother.

"So is scarlet fever or smallpox," said Mr. Caryl, rather curtly; "but all the same I don't see how I can be held responsible for either the one or the other. 'Lend the manuscript of your last sermon to old Miss Dadd to read.' But I haven't any manuscript to read—only half a dozen memoranda. I preached entirely extempore last Sunday."

"Couldn't you just write it from memory?" said Mrs. Caryl, piteously. "The poor old lady seems so anxious. She said the sermon impressed her so much."

"Really, mother, I think that's a little unreasonable," said the pastor. "Suppose every old lady in the parish were to require me to write out a twelve page sermon for her especial benefit. 'Give Miss Hitts a list of hymns for next Sunday.' Yes, I'll do that—as well now as any time. 'Speak to Mrs. Prune's Sarah.' Mrs. Prune's Sarah? Who is Mrs. Prune's Sarah. And what am I to speak to her about? I'd like to know," demanded this young clergyman in a sort of mild desperation.

"Don't you know?" explained Mrs. Caryl, "it's Mrs. Prune that lives down by the steam sawmill, in the big white house, with the poplar trees in front of it. And it's her step-daughter that's come home from the third situation, all on account of the ribbons in her hat, and her pride in her own pretty face."

"And I am to speak to her, eh?" said the young pastor.

"Yes; you are to speak to her," said his mother, with some emphasis.

"But you must, Charles," pleaded the old lady. "It's in the line of your regular duty."

Mr. Caryl hesitated, and wrinkled his brow in sore perplexity.

"Do you think so?" said he.

"I'm sure of it," declared the old lady.

Conscientiousness was one of the strong points of Mr. Caryl's character. He took up his hat.

"If it's got to be done," said he desperately, "the sooner the better."

"But you'll stop for your tea first, Charles," urged Mrs. Caryl. "Hot corn bread and strawberry jam."

"I'll stop for nothing!" said Mr. Caryl. "Don't fret, little mother; it wont take me long to speak to Sarah."

And he disappeared with a laugh.

As it happened, he never before had been called upon to practice this particular branch of his profession, pleading with the rebellious lambs of his flock who thought more of their bright eyes than they did of their hymn-books; and he turned the matter over in his mind as he walked along the frosty woodland path, where the young moon cast a fitful, evanescent light, and the dead leaves sent up a faint odor beneath his feet.

"Speak to Sarah," he muttered to himself, not without a certain perception of the ridiculous side of the matter. "And what am I to say to her, I wonder."

He knocked softly at the big front door of the Prune mansion. A shuffling, untidy girl of 14 or 15 opened it, hiding behind a shawl and a fringe of curl-papers.

"Is Miss Prune at home?" said he.

"No she ain't," retorted the girl.

Mr Caryl paused. He scarcely knew what question to ask next.

"Is Sarah at home?" he demanded after a little.

"Miss Sarah?"

"Well; I suppose it can hardly be 'Mr.' Sarah," said the young clergyman, half smiling. "Yes, Miss Sarah, of course."

"She's at home," said the girl, ungraciously, opening the door a little wider. "Came this afternoon. Settin' in the parlor. Walk in, please."

And without further ceremony, Mr. Caryl found himself ushered into a semi-dark apartment, where a tall, slender young beauty of 18 summers or so sat before the fire, in a plain black dress, with the simplest cuffs and collars, and a single pale blue ribbon fastened in the thick, dark braids of her hair, a person so entirely different from what we had expected to see that the stopped short in some perplexity.

"Is this—ahem!—Sarah?" he asked.

"I am Sarah Fielding," she responded.

"I have called—to speak to you," said he, with a desperate rallying of his verbal forces. "Perhaps Sarah, you may not know who I am?"

"No, I don't," said the girl in some surprise.

"I am Mr. Caryl the pastor of the parish."

"I am happy to make your acquaintance," said the girl, putting out one slim hand, in the easiest possible manner.

The pastor hesitated. This was not what he looked for at all.

"Of course—of course," said he. "But how does it happen, Sarah, that you are at home again so soon?"

"Do you mean at Westbrook?"

"Where else should I mean?" retorted Mr. Caryl, crustily—for he felt that if he once abandoned his tone of authority he was lost. "Why didn't you stay where you were?"

Sarah colored up to the roots of her hair. He could perceive that, even in the uncertain rise and fall of the firelight.

"I did not like the position," said she in a low voice.

"But you ought to like it," said Mr. Caryl. "You are not aware of all the circumstances," pleaded Sarah.

"I am quite aware," said Mr. Caryl severely, "that vanity is the root of all your evils."

"Vanity?"

The crimson was deeper than ever now, on brow and temple, as she half rose.

"Yes, vanity," impressively reiterated the clergyman. "Be silent, if you please, young woman and hear me out. You have a certain amount of personal attractions, which appear to have turned your head. Remember that beauty is but skin deep. Call to mind frequently the adage that 'Handsome is that handsome does.' After all, you are neither Mary Queen of Scots nor Cleopatra. Now take my advice, Sarah—"

"But I have not asked for it," she cried out in choked accents.

"No matter whether you have or not," said Mr. Caryl, calmly. "It is my mission to volunteer good counsel and yours to receive it. I repeat, Sarah, take my advice and go back to your last place. Apologize humbly for your shortcomings; tell the woman of the house that you will strive to amend your conduct for the future, and endeavor to deserve her approval. Put away your silly ribbon-bows and brooches"—with a stern glance at a poor little agate breastpin that glistened at the girl's throat—"and leave the vain accessories of dress to your betters, always remembering that the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit—"

But just at this point the young clergyman's oration was abruptly checked by the entrance of Mrs. Prune herself, shawled and bonneted, and breathing fast, from the haste she had made. In one hand she held a prodigious umbrella, with the other she dragged forward the untidy damsel of the shawl and curl-papers.

"Here she is, Mr. Caryl—here she is," bawled Mrs. Prune, who did not possess that excellent thing in a woman, a low and gentle voice. "A lazy, good-for-nothing, stuck up, vain minx, as needn't suppose as I'm going to do for her no longer! You needn't hang back, Sarah, it ain't no good! Here she is, Mr. Caryl—here's Sarah!"

The young pastor stared in amazement.

"Is that Sarah?" said he.

"That's Sarah," panted Mrs. Prune.

"And who's this?" he demanded, turning to the slim, dark-eyed girl, with the blue ribbon and the agate brooch.

"That's my niece, Sally Fielding, as has been governess to a family up in Maine for three years," said Mrs. Prune. "And she's down here on a visit now—came this very afternoon. Hain't you been introduced yet? Mr. Caryl, my niece, Sallie! Sallie, this ere's—"

But before she could finish the words of her formal introduction, the clergyman had made a nervous grasp at his hat.

"I—I have been the victim of a misunderstanding," stammered he. "This young person told me that she was Sarah."

"So she is," said Mrs. Prune. "But she ain't the Sarah as is to be spoken to."

"I beg a thousand pardons," said Mr. Caryl; feeling the cold sweat start from every pore.

Miss Fielding burst out laughing.

"They are cheerfully granted," said she. "No, don't go away, Mr. Caryl," holding out her hand as he was turning to depart. "I have learned that you possess at least the virtue of frankness. Shall we not be friends?"

And Mr. Caryl looked into the dark eyes, and said

"Yes."

He forgot all about the hot corn-bread and strawberry jam at home, and stayed to tea at Mrs. Prune's, while the right Sarah escaped the intended lecture, and the wrong Sarah presided, in a most graceful and winning manner, be hind the cups and saucers, and old Mrs. Caryl laughed heartily when her son explained the curious encounter to her, later in the evening.

"But why did she leave her situation—the wrong Sarah I mean?" said she.

"Because the young heir of the house made love to her," said Mr. Caryl; "and I don't wonder at it. She's the prettiest little creature I ever saw in my life."

"Perhaps, then," said Mrs. Caryl, doubtfully, "your advice wasn't so much amiss, after all."

"Certainly it was," said Mr. Caryl, with spirit.

The old lady looked sharply at him.

"Charles," she said, "I do believe you're struck with her!"

"Nonsense!" said Mr. Caryl, turning red.

But, just three months later, when the moon was at the full and sleighing parties en regle, Mr. Caryl brought Miss Fielding from singing-school in his new cutter, and told her a secret on the way—that he loved her.

And so the wrong Sarah was the right Sarah after all.

MARK TWAIN IN POLITICS.

HE CONDUCTS A LARGE REPUBLICAN MEETING AND INTRODUCES GEN. HAWLEY—AND THE "INNOCENT" WAY HE DID THE JOB.

[Elmira Special, Oct. 18 to N. Y. Times.]

The largest political meeting of the campaign was held in this city by the republicans last evening. The opera house was densely packed to hear General Joseph R. Hawley, of Connecticut. Gen. Hawley was introduced by Mark Twain (Samuel L. Clemens), who said: "I see I am advertised to introduce the speaker of the evening, Gen. Hawley of Connecticut, and I see it is the report that I am to make a political speech. Now, I must say this is an error. I wasn't constructed to make stump speeches, and on that head (politics) I have only this to say: First, see that you vote. Second, see that your neighbor votes. Lastly, see that yourself or neighbor don't scratch the ticket. Gen. Hawley was president of the centennial commission. He was a gallant soldier in the war. He has been governor of Connecticut, member of congress, and was nominated Abraham Lincoln. He is an editor, who believes what he writes in his own paper. As the author of 'Beautiful Snow' he has added a new pang to winter. He is a broad souled, generous, noble, liberal, alive to moral and religious responsibilities. Whenever the contribution box was passed I never knew him to take out a cent. He is a square, true, honest man in politics, and I must say he occupies a mighty lonesome position. He has never shirked a duty or backed down from any position taken in public life. He has been right every time and stood there. As governor, as congressman, as a soldier, as the head of the centennial commission, which increased our trade in every port and pushed American products into all the known world, he has conferred honor and credit upon the United States. He is an American of Americans. Would we had more such men! So broad, so beautiful is his character that he never turned a tramp empty handed from his door, but always gave him a letter of introduction to me. His public trusts have been many, and never in the slightest did he prove unfaithful. Pure, honest, incorruptible, that is Joe Hawley. Such a man in politics is like a bottle of perfumery in a glue factory: it may modify the stench if it doesn't destroy it. And now, in speaking thus highly of the speaker of the evening, I haven't said any more of him than I would say of myself. Ladies and gentlemen, this is Gen. Hawley."

Mr. Clemens was frequently interrupted by applause and laughter. At the close of his remarks, Gen. Hawley stepped forward and, for an hour and a half, spoke on the issues of the day.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN
The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast,
IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL
CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.
HAS RETURNED AFTER AN EXTENSIVE tour of the Eastern States for the past four months. The Doctor while absent visited all the principal Medical institutions in the large cities of the United States, and comes back with all the modern methods, instruments and appliances known to the most scientific men in the profession. The Doctor has also brought charts and manikins to illustrate his lectures.
DR. PAUL M. BRENAN has been fifteen years lecturing on the Laws of Life and Health. In his private and public lectures he has taught men and women the true system of life how to be healthy and happy, if they would only be guided by his wise counsel. But all cannot hear his delightful and instructive lectures, nor can he tell everything necessary for suffering humanity to know from the public rostrum before a promiscuous audience. There is much to be learned from him as his experience extends over broad fields of active professional life. This knowledge is necessary to the welfare of the sufferer can only be gleaned by private Professional Consultation at his office.
His experience in the various parts of Europe and America give him such opportunities of learning the delicate diseases which the human family are prone to, their mode of treatment and permanent cure, as no other physician on the Pacific Coast can claim. He has not only treated these diseases most successfully but has made them a life study, as a few moments' consultation will prove.
He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the
FOLLIES OF YOUTH,
Such as SPERMATORRHŒA or SEMINAL WEAKNESS or LOSS OF PERSONAL VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases arising, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement [illegible] not yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 6, 1879.

IMAGINATION.

We overstate the ills of life and take
Imagination—given us to bring down
The choirs of singing angels overshone
By God's clear glory—down our earth to rake
The dismal snows instead, flake following flake,
To cover all the corn. We walk upon
The shadow of hills across a level thrown,
And pant like climbers. Near the alder brake
We sigh so loud, the nightingale within
Refuses to sing aloud, as else she would.
O brothers! let us leave the shame and sin
Of taking vainly, in a plaintive mood,
The holy name of Grief—holy herein,
That by the grief of One came all our good.
—Mrs. Browning.

THE MINISTER'S MISTAKE.

The sunset was painting all the forest paths with gold; the mossy boles of the old trees glowed in the level light, as if they had been carved out of glittering bronze, and the scarlet vines along the stone wall caught new splendor from the last rays, while the silvery white fringe of the wild clematis swung from the dead thornbushes, and here and there a bird, perched high up against the deep, vivid blue of the heavens, uttered its shrill, clear vesper note; and Mr. Caryl, walking home through the Westbrook woods, thought what a beautiful world this was that God had made.

Mr. Caryl was only four and twenty, and had been in the Westbrook parish for three months. Not long, but long enough to discern, by the first story of his own experience, that there were thorns as well as roses in a country pastor's life.

It had seemed so beautiful and ideal, when he looked at it through the medium of his fancy, standing on the threshold of the theological seminary. It was beautiful still, but the ideality had gone out of it.

His mother met him on the door-step of the parsonage—a brisk, spectacled little dame, in a turned black silk, with frills of neatly darned lace, and violet ribbons in her cap.

"Well, Charles," she said, cheerily, "here's a whole slateful of calls for you."

Mr. Caryl's countenance rather fell. He had been anticipating an evening by the wood-fire, with the last number of Blackwood's Magazine.

"Calls?" he repeated. "What are they, and where are they?"

He went into the little parlor as he spoke—the parlor where the coveted wood-fire was leaping and flashing on the bright and-irons, and a shaded lamp was already burning on the table among his piled up books and papers—and took up the little slate.

"The Widow Cornett," he read; adding, sotto voice: "That woman again! She has died once a week regularly, ever since I have been in Westbrook."

"Charles!" mildly reproved his mother.

"It is a fact," asserted the young clergyman. "I don't think people ought to confound hypochondria and religion in this blindfold sort of way. She'd a deal better send for a doctor and leave off scolding that wretched adopted daughter of hers. I won't go—that's settled. What next? 'Meet Deacon Daisy and old Captain Hartwick at Fowlersville Poor Corners at half past 9 to-morrow.' Now I wonder why people can't agree about their own boundary lines without calling in the clergyman of the parish as umpire between them."

"Dissension is such a dreadful thing among your flock, Charles," said his mother.

"So is scarlet fever or smallpox," said Mr. Caryl, rather testily; "but all the same I don't see how I can be held responsible for either the one or the other. 'Lend the manuscript of your last sermon to old Miss Dadd to read.' But I haven't any manuscript to read—only half a dozen memoranda. I preached entirely extempore last Sunday."

"Couldn't you just write it from memory?" said Mrs. Caryl, piteously. "The poor old lady seems so anxious. She said the sermon impressed her so much."

"Really, mother, I think that's a little unreasonable," said the pastor. "Suppose every old lady in the parish were to require me to write out a twelve page sermon for her especial benefit. 'Give Miss Hitts a list of hymns for next Sunday.' Yes, I'll do that—as well now as any time. 'Speak to Mrs. Prune's Sarah.' Mrs. Prune's Sarah? Who is Mrs. Prune's Sarah, And what am I to speak to her about, I'd like to know," demanded this young clergyman in a sort of mild desperation.

"Don't you know?" explained Mrs. Caryl; "it's Mrs. Prune that lives down by the steam sawmill, in the big white house, with the poplar trees in front of it. And, it's her stepdaughter that's come home from the third situation, all on account of the ribbons in her hat, and her pride in her own pretty face."

"And I am to speak to her, eh?" said the young pastor.

"Yes, you are to speak to her," said Mrs. Caryl, with some emphasis.

"But you must, Charles," pleaded the old lady. "It's in the line of your regular duty."

Mr. Caryl hesitated, and wrinkled his brow in sore perplexity.

"Do you think so?" said he.

"I'm sure of it," declared the old lady.

Conscientiousness was one of the strong points of Mr. Caryl's character. He took up his hat.

"If it's going to be done," said he desperately, "the sooner the better."

"But you'll stop for your tea first, Charles," urged Mrs. Caryl. "Hot corn-bread and strawberry jam."

"I'll stop for nothing!" said Mr. Caryl. "Don't fret, little mother; it wont take me long to speak to Sarah."

And he disappeared with a laugh.

As it happened, he never before had been called upon to practice this particular branch of his profession, pleading with the rebellious lambs of his flock who thought more of their bright eyes than they did of their hymn-books; and he turned the matter over in his mind as he walked along the frosty, woodland path, where the young moon cast a fitful, evanescent light, and the dead leaves sent up a faint odor beneath his feet.

"Speak to Sarah," he muttered to himself, not without a certain perception of the ridiculous side of the matter. "And what am I to say to her, I wonder."

He knocked softly at the big front door of the Prune mansion. A shuffling, untidy girl of 14 or 15 opened it, hiding behind a shawl and a fringe of curl-papers.

"Is Miss Prune at home?" said he.

"No she ain't," retorted the girl.

Mr. Caryl paused. He scarcely knew what question to ask next.

"Is Sarah at home?" he demanded after a little.

"Miss Sarah?"

"Well; I suppose it can hardly be 'Mr.' Sarah," said the young clergyman, half smiling. "Yes, Miss Sarah, of course."

"She's at home," said the girl, ungraciously, opening the door a little wider. "Came this afternoon. Settin' in the parlor. Walk in, please!"

And without further ceremony, Mr. Caryl found himself ushered into a semi-dark apartment, where a tall, slender young beauty of 18 summers or so sat before the fire, in a plain black dress, with the simplest cuffs and collars, and a single pale blue ribbon fastened in the thick, dark braids of her hair, a person so entirely different from what we had expected to see that he stopped short in some perplexity.

"Is this—ahem!—Sarah?" he asked.

"I am Sarah Fielding," she responded.

"I have called—to speak to you," said he, with a desperate rallying of his verbal forces. "Perhaps Sarah, you may not know who I am?"

"No, I don't," said the girl in some surprise.

"I am Mr. Caryl the pastor of the parish."

"I am happy to make your acquaintance," said the girl, putting out one slim hand, in the easiest possible manner.

The pastor hesitated. This was not what he looked for at all.

"Of course—of course," said he. "But how does it happen, Sarah, that you are at home again so soon?"

"Do you mean at Westbrook?"

"Where else should I mean?" retorted Mr. Caryl, crustily—for he felt that if he once abandoned his tone of authority he was lost. "Why didn't you stay where you were?"

Sarah colored up to the roots of her hair. He could perceive that, even in the uncertain rise and fall of the firelight.

"I did not like the position," said she in a low voice.

"But you ought to like it," said Mr. Caryl.

"You are not aware of all the circumstances," pleaded Sarah.

"I am quite aware," said Mr. Caryl severely, "that vanity is the root of all your evils."

"Vanity?"

The crimson was deeper than ever now, on brow and temple, as she half rose.

"Yes, vanity!" impressively reiterated the clergyman. "Be silent, if you please, young woman, and hear me out. You have a certain amount of personal attractions, which appear to have turned your head. Remember that beauty is but skin deep. Call to mind frequently the adage, that 'Handsome is that handsome does.' After all, you are neither Mary Queen of Scots nor Cleopatra. Now, take my advice, Sarah—"

"But I have not asked for it," she cried out, in choked accents.

"No matter whether you have or not," said Mr. Caryl, calmly. "It is my mission to volunteer good counsel, and yours to receive it. I repeat, Sarah, take my advice and go back to your last place. Apologize humbly for your shortcomings; tell the woman of the house that you will strive to amend your conduct for the future, and endeavor to deserve her approval. Put away your silly ribbon-bows and brooches"—with a stern glance at a poor little agate breastpin that glistened at the girl's throat,—"and leave the vain accessories of dress to your betters, always remembering that the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit—"

But just at this point the young clergyman's oration was abruptly checked by the entrance of Mrs. Prune herself, shawled and bonneted, and breathing fast, from the haste she had made. In one hand she held a prodigious umbrella; with the other she dragged forward the untidy damsel of the shawl and curl-papers.

"Here she is, Mr. Caryl—here she is," bawled Mrs. Prune, who did not possess that excellent thing in a woman, "a low and gentle voice." "A lazy, good-for-nothing, stuck-up, vain minx, as needn't suppose as I'm going to do for her no longer! You needn't hang back, Sarah, it ain't no good! Here she is, Mr. Caryl—here's Sarah!"

The young pastor stared in amazement.

"Is that Sarah?" said he.

"That's Sarah," panted Mrs. Prune.

"And who's this?" he demanded, turning to the slim, dark-eyed girl, with the blue ribbon and the agate brooch.

"That's my niece, Sally Fielding, as has been governess to a family up in Maine for three years," said Mrs. Prune. "And she's down here on a visit now—came this very afternoon. Hain't you been introduced yet? Mr. Caryl, my niece, Sallie! Sallie, this ere's—"

But before she could finish the words of her formal introduction, the clergyman had made a nervous grasp at his hat.

"I—I have been the victim of a misunderstanding," stammered he. "This young person told me that she was Sarah."

"So she is," said Mrs. Prune. "But she ain't the Sarah as to be spoken to."

"I beg a thousand pardons," said Mr. Caryl; feeling the cold sweat drip from every pore.

Miss Fielding burst out laughing.

"They are cheerfully granted," said she. "No, don't go away, Mr. Caryl," holding out her hand as he was turning to depart. "I have learned that you possess at least the virtue of frankness. Shall we not be friends?"

And Mr. Caryl looked into the dark eyes, and said:

"Yes."

He forgot all about the hot corn-bread and strawberry jam at home, and stayed to tea at Mrs. Prune's, while the right Sarah escaped the intended lecture, and the wrong Sarah presided, in a most graceful and winning manner, behind the cups and saucers; and old Mrs. Caryl laughed heartily when her son explained the curious encounter to her, later in the evening.

"But why did she leave her situation—the wrong Sarah I mean?" said she.

"Because the young heir of the house made love to her," said Mr. Caryl; "and I don't wonder at it. She's the prettiest little creature I ever saw in my life."

"Perhaps, then," said Mrs. Caryl, doubtfully, "your advice wasn't so much amiss, after all."

"Certainly it was," said Mr. Caryl, with spirit.

The old lady looked sharply at him.

"Charles," she said, "I do believe you're struck with her."

"Nonsense!" said Mr. Caryl, turning red.

But, just three months later, when the moon was at the full and sleighing parties en regle, Mr. Caryl brought Miss Fielding from singing-school in his new cutter, and told her a secret on the way—that he loved her.

And so the wrong Sarah was the right Sarah after all.

MARK TWAIN IN POLITICS.

HE CONDUCTS A LARGE REPUBLICAN MEETING AND INTRODUCES GEN. HAWLEY—AND THE "INNOCENT" WAY HE DID THE JOB.

[Elmira Special, Oct. 18, to N. Y. Times.]

The largest political meeting of the campaign was held in this city by the republicans last evening. The opera house was densely packed to hear General Joseph R. Hawley, of Connecticut. Gen. Hawley was introduced by Mark Twain (Samuel L. Clemens), who said: "I see I am advertised to introduce the speaker of the evening, Gen. Hawley of Connecticut, and I see it is the report that I am to make a political speech. Now, I must say, this is an error. I wasn't constructed to make stump speeches, and on that head (politics) I have only this to say: First, see that you vote. Second, see that your neighbor votes. Lastly, see that yourself or neighbor don't scratch the ticket. Gen. Hawley was president of the centennial commission. He was a gallant soldier in the war. He has been governor of Connecticut, member of congress, nominated Abraham Lincoln. He is an editor, who believes what he writes in his own paper. As the author of 'Beautiful Snow' he has added a new pang to winter. He is a broad souled, generous, noble, liberal, alive to moral and religious responsibilities. Whenever the contribution-box was passed I never knew him to take out a cent. He is a square, true, honest man in politics, and I must say he occupies a mighty lonesome position. He has never shirked a duty or backed down from any position taken in public life. He has been right every time, and stood there. As governor, as congressman, as a soldier, as the head of the centennial commission, which increased our trade in every port and pushed American production into all the known world, he has conferred honor and credit upon the United States. He is an American of Americans. Would we had more such men! So broad, so bountiful is his character that he never turned a tramp empty handed from his door, but always gave him a letter of introduction to me. His public trusts have been many, and never in the slightest did he prove unfaithful. Pure, honest, incorruptible, that is Joe Hawley. Such a man in politics is like a bottle of perfumery in a glue factory—it may modify the stench if it doesn't destroy it. And now, in speaking thus highly of the speaker of the evening, I haven't said any more of him than I would say of myself. Ladies and gentlemen, this is Gen. Hawley."

Mr. Clemens was frequently interrupted by applause and laughter. At the close of his remarks, Gen. Hawley stepped forward and, for an hour and a half, spoke on the issues of the day.

U. S. Bonds—5s, 5¼; 4½s, [illegible] 4s, 6¼.

The Commercial Herald reports stocks of goods in San Francisco as running very light, so much so that it is really difficult for interior merchants to secure any considerable line or lines of goods even at the enhanced prices. The same paper notes the fact of a very active demand for meat provisions from Oregon and the territories. Heretofore Oregon, Washington territory and British Columbia sent quantities of bacon, lard, hams, eggs and butter, but lately very considerable shipments of these articles have been made to northern ports from San Francisco.

Late mail advices from San Francisco state that not more than two or three vessels in that port suitable for the grain trade are disengaged, and owners' agents demand 70s and upward, ship owners feeling that after two unprofitable years this is their time to make some money. In the face of this firm tone and advanced demand in the market for freights, wheat, as a matter of course receded, and went from $2 10 down to $2.

In the local market to-day, there are but few features worthy of special mention. Wheat continues to arrive in important quantities and transactions occur at figures ranging from $1 91 to $1 95, the latter being about the top of the market at present. Oats are in better demand at an advance of 1@2½c per bushel on our last quotations. Provisions are gradually advancing with a more active trade and a better demand for choice meats and dairy products. Jobbers generally are holding eggs at 30c, though sales have been made at 27c.

OVERALLS
Are sold by leading dealers in this city and on this coast, because—
"THEY CONTAIN THE BEST MATERIAL,
ARE SEWN WITH LINEN THREAD,
And ARE THE MOST PERFECT FITTING."

In putting on or taking off Overalls, the strain on the crotch often causes them to rip; and to remedy this we are making a continuous strip of cloth, extending the entire length of both sides of the Overall from the crotch, and secured thereto at every joint. Under these improvements, we claim that our Overalls will stand greater strain than any other make in the market.

Observe the Trade Mark and take no other.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN
The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.
IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL
CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

HAS RETURNED AFTER AN EXTENSIVE tour of the Eastern States, for the past four months. The Doctor while absent visited all the principal Medical institutions in the large cities of the United States, and comes back with all the modern methods, instruments and appliances known to the most scientific men in the profession. The Doctor has also brought charts and manikins to illustrate his lecture.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN has been fifteen years lecturing on the Laws of Life and Health. In his private and public lectures he has taught men and women the true system of life, how to be healthy and happy, if they would only be guided by his wise counsel. But all cannot hear his delightful and instructive lectures, nor can he tell everything necessary for suffering humanity to know from the public rostrum before a promiscuous audience. There remains much to be learned from him as his experience extends over broad fields of active professional life. This knowledge so necessary to the welfare of the sufferer can only be gleaned by private Professional Consultation at his office.

His experience in the various parts of Europe and America give him such opportunities of learning the delicate diseases which the human family are prone to, their mode of treatment and permanent cure, as no other physician on the Pacific Coast can claim. He has not only treated these diseases most successfully, but has made them a life study, as a few moments' consultation will prove.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

IT IS TRUE

That persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to relieve them out of their miserable existence.

Those who call in time upon DR. PAUL M. BRENAN [illegible] but what he will restore them to perfect health and vigor, make them bodily pure and their mind content if they will only follow his advice and treatment.

Catarrh [illegible] Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and [illegible] Nostrums [illegible]

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Consultation free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. All [illegible]
